Carmel students ready to hit the books again

While the calendar may say that it is still summer, for Carmel Unified School District students, the party is over — classes officially began Sept. 5. For those students resuming classes, the beginning of the fall semester marks a time to rekindle relationships that were put on hold for the summer, explore new learning opportunities and make new friends. For incoming kindergarteners, however, the fall semester proves to be a time of excitement, fear and anticipation as they begin their odyssey through the educational system.

NO ONE could doubt Carmel High School Principal Marie Ishida's school spirit, as she dons a school sweatshirt and strolls the halls during the first day of classes.

FOR 10th-grader Kathleen Balesteri, the first day of classes at Carmel High School marks a time to wait patiently as her schedule of classes is finalized.

DO YOU know where your kids are? The answer is "yes" for the Jamison family, whose two children both attend Carmel River School. Shown here from left are Tom, kindergartener Sarah, Ann, and fourth-grader Peter.

FIRST-GRADER Justin McChesney-Wachs takes the idea of providing an apple for the teacher one step further and gives Carol Catalano a fresh bouquet of flowers on the first day of school.

FOR NEW first-grader Storee Tilleman, the first day of classes is just a laughing matter, as she sits at table three and waits for her peers to show up and join in the fun.

Pave paradise?

Dear Editor:

Amidst all this Hatton Canyon nuttiness this one fact has always disturbed me.

How can we continue to ask other countries to restrict their population and to save their forests when we cannot control unbridled growth, a serious environmental problem right here?

By removing 10,000 pine trees we are removing a small forest and thus adding one more nick to the overall Greenhouse Effect!

One half of the state of Florida is paved to accommodate tourism — how long will it take to pave over coastal California?

Artistic giants

Dear Editor:

The current retrospective exhibition at the Carmel Art Association presents works of the Association's "First Five National Academicians," is outstanding, and should be visited by all who have not yet seen it. It brings back memories of an older Carmel when artistic giants were hard at creative work, supporting each other by interchanging ideas and through mutual encouragement. I was lucky indeed to have been an observer in those times.

Howard E. Smith's three children, seven grandchildren, and five great grandchildren thank the Carmel Art Association for the tribute to its "First Five" and the Pine Cone for its excellent coverage of the exhibition.

Is it too late?

Dear Editor:

Remember when Carmel was by the artists and for the artists? Remember when you could stroll leisurely through the galleries enjoying the art? Not now, the chains are here, something Carmel said would never be!

A common sight as you walk down Ocean is a salesman chasing after customers as they attempt to "get away." Is this what's become of Carmel, a former artists colony? When does this stop? When K-Mart opens? Why does City Hall make it so difficult for local artists to open? Locals should take priority over brokerage houses.

Come on, Carmel. Let's do something now before it's too late. Or is it?

Business attrition

Dear Editor:

Those of us who lament about the lack of resident-serving businesses in Carmel should put our money where our collective mouths are and patronize the few remaining businesses we are still lucky enough to have.

Carmel Hardware and its "new" location on Junipero across from Bruno's is a good example. It's a much-needed store with friendly, courteous service — we hope people haven't lost track of them in their move.

Barbara Podoloff at Copies-by-the-Sea also deserves our loyalty and support. She has been serving Carmelites promptly and efficiently — with a dose of good humor thrown in — for more than five years.

We're aware of the attributes of healthy competition. However, in such a small town it is astonishing that Barbara's landlord would open a competing business just a few doors from hers. Could this lack of concern, compassion and loyalty toward tenants have anything to do with the attrition of our resident-serving businesses?

Spending spree

Dear Editor:

The half-cent sales tax that the county supervisors are proposing is a huge "pork barrel." Supervisors have spread projects across the county in an effort to gain approval.

Why are we being asked to pay $123 million to build a Highway 101 bypass when it is a federal highway? Most of the traffic is by people who do not live or pay taxes in Monterey County. This bypass has been a project of Caltrans for many years. In a memorandum on the bypass Caltrans wrote dated March 1, 1989, stated in one paragraph that "The 1987 Surface Transportation Act

BATES

"I'm saving it for my husband.
He's due in a week from Saturday."

listed this project as a demonstration project making it eligible for 80 percent Federal funding."

What are the supervisors trying to pull? They are proposing to pay about 75 percent of the cost of the project. Will all of the extra money be used to fund another "pork barrel" that they haven't told us about.

This proposed tax is unfair. It hurts those least able to pay it. A much better tax would be a gasoline tax. Those who use the highways would pay for them. The state will have a $15 billion gasoline tax on the ballot in the near future. Why does the county want us to spend $233 million on highways, most of which would be state roads, when the state will have all of that money to improve highways across the state?

The county budget for this fiscal year is $215 million. This is a 14 percent increase from the preceding year. Supervisors are the biggest spenders of our hard-earned money we have ever had. They want to spend, spend, spend. It is time to stop this wild spending spree.

All layers of government are interested in raising our taxes. The federal government is running huge deficits and is unable to cut spending. They will have to raise our taxes to avoid financial disaster. The state recently approved a $49 billion budget. Then they propose additional billions in the form of bond issues. Families on Medicare will pay an increased tax of up to $1,600 this year and more in future years.

It is time to say no to additional tax increases. We need the money more than the county does.

Safety first

Dear Editor:

Please let your readers know that if a person witnesses a misbehaving auto driver, one can report the license plate to: Department of Safety, DMV, 1180 Canyon Del Rey, Seaside, CA 93955.

The driver will be notified and counseled by the DMV Safety Committee. It's time citizens have more power over reckless drivers.

Successful dance

Dear Editor:

Many thanks to the Carmel Pine Cone/Pacific Grove Monarch, especially Mac McDonald, for helping to make the Second Annual KAZU Summer Dance Party such a great success.

About 500 people danced the night away at the Monterey Sheraton on July 28, in support of public radio station KAZU and the Monterey County AIDS Project. We'd like to thank the participating bands who donated their time and talent: Wilma, the Fabulous Bagtones, Floating Mission and The Believers.

Thanks also to Silver Jones who donated the grand prize for our crazy hat contest!

phases over a five-year period, if approved. (Photo courtesy of Denise Duffy and Associates.)

Increased traffic may pose problems for subdivision

By DAVID LELAND

THE THREAT of increased traffic on Carmel Valley Road looms as a major obstacle for the proposed Carmel Greens subdivision.

"The closer to the mouth of the valley, the more difficulty a project will have."

— Karin Strasser Kauffman

Project applicant Tom Gamboa has submitted plans with Monterey County to construct 115 homes for senior citizens on the 22.4-acre parcel located about one-half mile east of Highway 1 on Carmel Valley Road near the mouth of valley.

An environmental impact report, prepared by Monterey-based Denise Duffy and Associates, says traffic from the project could increase auto volumes by 805 trips a day.

That comes as potentially devastating news when examining the poor level of service currently existing in the area around Highway 1.

"Increased traffic (at Carmel Greens) will not change existing levels of service, but will exacerbate the existing 'F' level of service at Carmel Valley Road and Highway 1, as well as 'E' service at Rio Road and Highway 1," according to the EIR.

Level "F" is the poorest traffic rating a road can be assigned and means that traffic is often at a virtual standstill.

And while the project is still in its infancy, with respondents having until Oct. 6 to correspond with the Monterey County Planning Department, 5th District Supervisor Karin Strasser Kauffman is keeping a watchful eye on its progress.

"The closer to the mouth of the valley, the more difficulty a project will have," she said.

County supervisors currently have an unofficial building moratorium at the mouth of the valley and say things will remain that way until the proposed Hatton Canyon Freeway project alleviates the gridlock.

Specifically, the Carmel Greens subdivision is bounded by Carmel Valley Road to the north, Rio Road to the south, Carmel Middle School to the east and Carmel Rancho Shopping Center to the west.

Of the proposed 115 lots, the application calls for 86 market-rate lots and 29 homes for low-income seniors (over the age of 60). Construction is planned over three stages and buildout is expected within five years of the project's approval.

In addition to requiring approval by the county, Carmel Greens will also need to be annexed by the Carmel Sanitary District and be given the go-ahead by the Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO).

The Carmel Greens subdivision will use about 26.7 acre feet of water per year, according to the EIR, which assumes that there will be 2.35 people per household.

That number is reduced, however, by factoring in the on-site groundwater pumping that will be reduced by 14.4 acre feet, due to the irrigated farmland that will be converted to residential use.

One mitigation measure suggested in the EIR regarding increased water usage, is for Carmel Greens to pursue an exemption from the California-American Water Co. because some of the project caters to low and moderate-income senior housing.

Five Carmel businesses need to resubmit use permits

By NANCY HILLS

AFTER REVIEWING the operations of seven Carmel businesses the Carmel Planning Commission found five would have to resubmit for new permits and one will be reviewed again in three months.

The seventh business, Great Things Antiques, was informed that it is against code to use the mezzanine for retail floor space.

The commission met for the special review Aug. 30.

The five that must apply for changes to their permits must do so before Sept. 15, according to the City Atty. Don Freeman. If the business fails to meet that deadline, the commission can schedule a hearing to revoke their license or use permit. That hearing would probably take place in late September or early October.

The businesses must reapply because their current uses are different than what is listed on their business licenses and/or use permits.

The city planning department has not determined when it will consider the new business licenses or use permits.

Each business can continue its operation as is until the commission rules on the new permits or after any revocation hearing.

The businesses that must reapply are:

• Jeanette's, west side San Carlos Street between Ocean and Seventh avenues.

The store must apply for a use permit and changes to its business license, which states it sells embroidery, casual sportswear and does monogramming. The planning staff said that the business is "selling primarily sweatshirts with pre-embossed lettering."

Owner Deen Rowe told the commission he was getting rid of many of the T-shirts and would try to change the store in a manner that "gets with the program."

• J.S. Grosvenor, Ltd. on the corner of Mission Street and Seventh Avenue in the Court of the Fountains.

The store has a business license for the sale of European women's clothing and accessories, but women's clothing is no longer the primary merchandise offered in the store.

According to owner Robert Rubenstein, the change in the clothing business — where the clothes made in the Orient are priced lower than European clothes — the shop switched its merchandise to European goods such as jewelry, art, dolls, handbags, and "other unique gift items."

Carmel Planning Director Diane White

told the commission that some of the items, such as jewelry, are not allowed in the service commercial zone where the shop is located.

However, a decision on those items will have to be made when the use permit and business license is reviewed.

• Carmel Handbag Co. in the Doud Arcade on Ocean Avenue near San Carlos Street. Lease holder Greg Schafer had transferred his automotive accessory store into the former location of the handbag and leather accessory shop without changing the business license or use permit.

The manager of the arcade informed the commission that the management objected to the store because the Doud Arcade was originally intended as shops for crafts and art. White told the commission that that was

Grand Jury probe on water district is due soon

THE MONTEREY COUNTY Grand Jury has been conducting an investigation into the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District and its report is due out soon.

A staff member for the Grand Jury at Monterey Superior Court said she did not know when the report was due for release, but it was originally estimated to be in a couple of weeks.

Information received by The Carmel Pine Cone indicates that all the Monterey County Board of Supervisors have been interviewed, as well as many of the directors and some water district staff members.

Public gets its chance to speak out on reclamation

By NANCY HILLS

THE PUBLIC gets its chance next week to speak out on a $15 million wastewater reclamation plant to be financed by the Pebble Beach Co. in exchange for water.

The private financing plan would give the Pebble Beach Co. a water entitlement in exchange for funding 100 percent of the project.

According to water district manager Bruce Buel, the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District board will take public comment — but no action — on the proposed reclamation plant financing proposal at its next meeting at 7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 11 in the Monterey City Council Chambers.

The reclamation plant will produce about 800 acre feet of reclaimed water, which would be used to water Pebble Beach golf courses. Drinkable water now used for that purpose would be "freed" for other uses.

In exchange for financing the plant, the Pebble Beach Co. and two other Del Monte Forest property owners would receive an entitlement for a total of 380 acre feet of water.

The other two property owners are the J. Lohr Properties/Braun Trust and Griffin Trust, which together would use a total of 15 acre feet, leaving the Pebble Beach Co. with 365 acre feet.

That is enough water to develop 900 new residential units, though the company states that it plans to develop less than the maximum. In fact, it has one application pending for 359 units, 94 units less than allowed by the Del Monte Forest Local Coastal Plan.

All development plans must be approved by the Monterey County Board of Supervisors.

"The fact there is water removes that one barrier to development but not the other barriers like air quality, traffic, sewer services," said 5th District Supervisor Karin Strasser Kauffman, who also serves as a water board director.

Public will get its opportunity to speak out on reclamation plan

The entitlement would be dedicated to specific lots, all in Del Monte Forest, and cannot be transferred or sold, but tying the plant to a water entitlement has prompted some reclamation proponents to oppose the proposed plant.

The city of Carmel has requested that the district investigate public funding more closely.

Strasser Kauffman also advocated public funding, but since it "did not materialize"

the Pebble Beach Co. financing "is the only game in town."

"It would obviously be preferable for the public to fund it, but everyone is eager for a reclamation plant to proceed and getting one on-line is more critical," Strasser Kauffman said.

The public would receive the remaining 420 acre feet, with the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District board deciding on its distribution.

In exchange for the entitlement, the Pebble

Beach Co. would guarantee funding of an approximately $15 million bond issued by the water district to build a water reclamation plant at Carmel Sanitary District site and a pipeline from the plant to Pebble Beach golf courses.

The company would also guarantee the payment of the operating costs.

The Carmel Sanitary District would own and operate the facility, while the water district would act as the financing vehicle by issuing the bond.

The golf courses would purchase the reclaimed water at the same cost as drinkable water, and that money would go toward paying for the plant, offsetting the amount the fiscal sponsors would have to pay.

The amount that Pebble Beach Co. will have to pay will vary based on a number of factors, including the cost of the reclaimed water, reclaimed water demand and operating and maintenance costs.

The water district estimates that the company could spend between $20 million to $30 million on the project.

ment of their lots," explained Pebble Beach Co. consultant Judith Brown on the reasons why the company decided to invest in the project.

'The company believed that it was important to to have a secure source of potable (drinkable) water for the eventual development of their lots.'

— Judith Brown
— Pebble Beach Co.

This project is at least the third reclamation project proposed to water Pebble Beach golf courses, including one from CSD and one by the Pebble Beach Community Services District.

A variety of reasons, many of them basically territorial disagreements and politics, have eliminated the other projects.

In other agenda items, the board will consider:

- A toilet retrofit program where any development that increases water use must retrofit, either on or off the property, enough plumbing fixtures to offset any new water use.

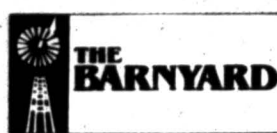

- The new water "budget" for the fall, or how the water resources will be managed.

District, teachers taking time on yearly contract

By DAVID LELAND

FOR THE first time in three years, the Carmel Unified School District's 120 teachers have started school without a yearly contract.

CUSD SUPT. Bob Infelise and the Association of Carmel Teachers are currently negotiating a yearly contract, to replace the teachers' expired one-year pact.

Both the CUSD administration and Association of Carmel Teachers are approaching negotiations gingerly in the wake of the district's anticipated $300,000 budget deficit.

"We've decided to take a little time this year to make sure our budget will support what we decide," said CUSD Supt. Bob Infelise. "They (teachers) have not made a formal proposal."

Infelise added that the district has sufficient cash reserves to stay afloat while experiencing a loss, but stringent state laws do not allow a school district to adopt a budget that would force it to operate in the red.

The two sides have met informally several times during the past two weeks, according to Jim Agan, lead negotiator for the teachers' union.

The heart of the matter centers upon the escalating costs of health insurance, which the district pays.

CUSD teachers currently are in a joint powers agreement with several other school districts, which theoretically is the most cost-efficient method of buying insurance.

But Infelise said that the district is exploring other methods of purchasing insurance, such as different carriers and co-insurance, with the teachers paying a deductible.

It is unclear how far the teachers will bend in helping the district pull itself out of its budgetary woes.

"The district has big financial problems that don't seem to be going away," Agan said. "And it's due to the horrendous health-care costs."

Agan agreed with Infelise that rising insurance premiums will be a "big factor" in any compromise reached between teachers and the CUSD.

Infelise hinted that insurance costs could stifle pay raises for the teachers.

"A significant amount of the salary increases could be eaten up in insurance," he said.

Last year the district and teachers signed a $270,000 pact. The district and teachers traditionally operate on one-year contracts.

Agan said that he was "hopeful" that the two sides could reach an agreement within the next several weeks.

a problem between the leasor and leasee and the commission should not address it.

• The Fashion Store on north side of Ocean Avenue between Mission and San Carlos streets. Originally called Sunset Shoes, owner Bobby Lee Frazer told the commission he wished to change the store into a casual clothing shop.

Frazer stated that he could not provide the clothing made by manufacturers of shoes as he originally intended.

• Lutece Galleries on Sixth Avenue between Dolores and Lincoln streets. The commission found that they had believed the business would be more antiques, both paintings and furniture, than it appears now. But owner Anne Moore and her husband Robert Fruchter told the commissioners that the information they provided during their review indicated that they would sell contemporary artists as well as antique artists.

Fruchter explained that they were still receiving merchandise and the store will comply with the use permit conditions soon.

However, the commissioners decided that they wished to review the use permit again.

THE BUSINESS the commission decided to review in three months was the General Store, which had a number of noise complaints and visits by the police.

Attorney Michael Albov explained that the operation of the restaurant and bar had changed and that they had received no complaints in the past three months.

Tom Sweeney, owner of the Jade Tree motel across the street from the restaurant, however, disputed that the noise complaints had disappeared.

The commission discussed mandating that the outdoor music be turned off at 9 p.m. and decided to review the business operation in three months.

Panetta legislation expands medicare

REP. LEON E. Panetta (D-Monterey, CA) introduced legislation recently which would expand Medicare coverage of home health care costs for the nation's senior citizens and other beneficiaries and encourage other alternatives for providing care of the elderly in their homes or with their families.

He said the bill was designed to provide cost-effective, compassionate health care alternatives for seniors in need of long-term care.

Panetta's legislation would:

- Broaden the Medicare home health care benefit by adding periodic chore and respite care services as a category of home care services;

- Increase resources and tighten eligibility requirements for the Senior Companion Program, which provides stipends to low-income seniors who assist other elderly persons confined to their homes; and

- Offer a $250 refundable tax credit to individuals who care for their over-65 parent in their home.

Panetta has also introduced legislation which would provide Medicare coverage of adult day care services. In addition, he was the author of the present law which provides Medicare coverage of hospice services for terminally ill patients.

"The unfortunate reality is that our current health care system fails to care adequately for those elderly who are chronically ill. Institutional care can be very costly. While it may be appropriate and necessary for many of our older citizens, it makes no sense to encourage it for all elderly Americans. We have the resources to provide cost-effective compassionate alternatives, and we should use them.

"These citizens must not be left without adequate health care, nor should they be forced into one type of setting. Rather, they should have a number of options as to the type of treatment they wish to receive and the type of environment in which they can live.

"Those who wish to remain in their homes or with their families and are able to do so should have that option. My legislation would make these options real for millions of elderly Americans."

TOM MAY WATER BOARD CANDIDATE for DECENT GOVERNMENT

The man with a plan

TOM MAY, after the first year of drought, proposed quick and available water which would have avoided today's rationing.

TOM MAY foresaw a new dam as environmentally unsound and too long in coming. It's just too expensive!

TOM MAY is a constant doer. Example: His recent success for the new Carmel library annex, now complete after years of controversy.

TOM MAY is the only candidate with a plan for a solid leap to new water:

- A coherent and reasonable way to meet legitimate water needs quickly.
- Speed up new waterworks without massive studies.
- Silt removal to reclaim storage at our old dams coupled with additional storage at new simple ponds like the existing Forest Hill reservoir.
- Salt removal from seawater as cost-effective.
- Full compliance with the Monterey County Water Conservation Plan.
- Public vote for a proper drought reserve to legally stop water grabs by special interests.
- Halt money waste on a new dam and thereby lop off layers of bureaucracy and eliminate promotional mailings by the water board.

TOM MAY will:

- Safeguard established homes and downtowns against rationing.
- Be fair to everyone under current rationing.
- Limit new water hookups with decent exceptions for the little guy and for public projects.
- Limit, with fairness, water rights proposals at Lombardo's golf courses.
- Stop overpumping and new wells in Carmel Valley to prevent toxic contamination.
- With your help, move forward.

TOM MAY has experience. Over 40 years: university studies in engineering and groundwater; adviser, San Felipe water transfer project, frequent water studies for business appraisals, organizer to establish Peninsula water district; frequent commentator on Peninsula water practices.

Past member: Carmel City Council; Area Planning Commission; other public service positions.

Self-employed career: financial appraisals; business investment; urban economics; personal and institutional portfolio management.

TOM MAY will use proven know-how to GET THINGS DONE.

Carmel historian offers first Gentrain night course

FOR THE FIRST time in its history, the Gentrain Society will offer one of its short courses at night. In previous years these classes at the Monterey Peninsula college have been scheduled during daytime hours.

To attract and accommodate businesspeople and others whose schedules do not allow them to attend during the day, the Gentrain Society has inaugurated new times for its September Short Course, which consist of two-hour lectures. Times will be 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 7, Tuesday, Sept. 12 and Thursday, Sept. 14. The course is open to everyone.

Presented by historian/author/lecturer J.S. Holliday, this short course is entitled "The California Gold Rush and Its Impact on the Nation." In January of this year, Dr. Holliday's short course "The Changing Image of California" attracted more than 100 "students," the largest audience in the history of Gentrain.

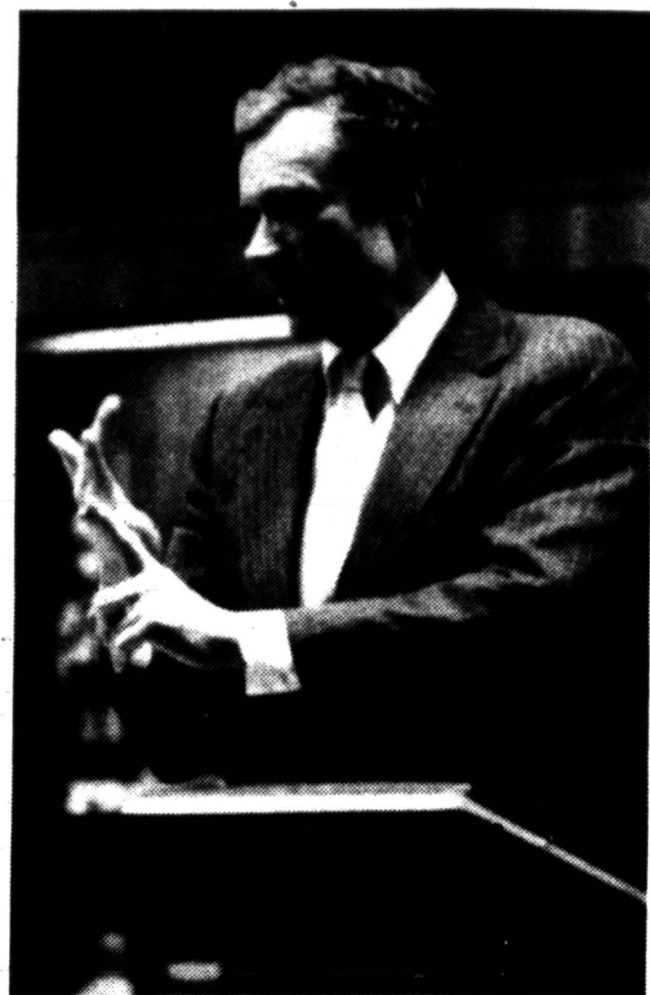

Holliday's September Tuesday and Thursday night classes will meet at Monterey Peninsula College in Social Science Room 103.

The lectures will explore all aspects of the world-famous Gold Rush that not only transformed California but changed the American people's values and expectations. Beginning with a quick review of Spanish-Mexican California before the discovery of gold in January 1848, Holliday will recount the spread of the "gold fever" through the eastern states and how scores of thousands of '49ers from cities, villages and farms set out for the "gold fields," leaving behind their wives and families and traditional rules and values. Like a war, the Gold Rush disrupted the nation.

Based on his study of 508 diaries and collections of letters written by the goldseekers, Holliday will tell the story of how scores of thousands of Americans trekked over wilderness trails or sailed 'round Cape Horn or crossed the Isthmus of California to reach El Dorado. What happened to them in the remote, often sickly mining camps and in the wild, instant cities; the development of new machines and techniques for mining gold and later silver; the ethnic and racial rivalries, the drinking and gambling and other rambunctious characteristics of life in Gold Rush California will be described in vivid detail. And Holliday will tell the little known story of tens of thousands of goldseekers who left California each year to return to "the old beaten path at home." In his final lecture, Holliday will analyze how gold mining spread from California to Colorado, from Arizona to Alaska, bringing dramatic changes to those vast regions. And too, how California introduced a new sense of freedom that was feared in more traditional states.

Author of THE WORLD RUSHED IN, The California Gold Rush Experience (published by Simon & Schuster and available in paperback), Holliday has a long career in what he calls "the business of teaching and promoting California history." He received his Ph.D. at the University of California, Berkeley. He has served as Research Fellow at the Henry E. Huntington Library, San Marino, CA; Assistant Director, the Bancroft Library, University of California, Berkeley; Associate Professor of History, San Francisco State University; and as Executive Director of the Oakland Museum and the California Historical Society. He is widely respected as a public speaker.

The Gentrain Society is a self-governing group under the auspices of Monterey Peninsula College.

J.S. HOLLIDAY of Carmel will present a short course for the Gentrain Society entitled, "The California Gold Rush and Its Impact on the Nation."

peninsula College. Founded in 1958, it has three purposes. First, to offer a wide-ranging continuing education program to the Peninsula's retirees and older adults, in the tradition of Lifelong Learning. Second, to offer Lectures and Short Courses that would expand and augment the topics offered by the College's Gentrain classes. And third, to promote public awareness of the College's many two-week courses offered by the Gentrain Department's faculty.

The word "Gentrain" derives from General Education Train of Courses. These courses are team taught by MPC faculty. There are fifteen two-week courses each year, in History/Political Science, Literature/Drama and Art/Philosophy. The Gentrain Department at the College was founded in 1972.

Several graduates of these Gentrain two-week courses realized in 1985 that there were many people on the Monterey Peninsula who wanted more classes and more diversity of subjects than could be accommodated by the College's regular Gentrain faculty. And so the Gentrain Society was founded. With the cooperation of the College, class rooms were made available for the Society's Lectures and Short Courses covering a wide range of topics.

Anyone interested in learning about the Lecture and Short Course subjects and the schedules should call the Society's number at the College: 646-4224 or 646-4058. Or write: The Gentrain Society, 980 Fremont Street, Monterey, CA 93940.

SEPTIC TANK ALERT

Health and water resources authorities agree that because drought conditions throughout most of Northern California, minimal rainfall, and lowering of the water-table, affluent from improperly maintained septic tanks may contaminate well water and local water supply.

An enzyme septic tank conditioner, used regularly according to manufacturer's instructions, will stimulate bacteria action, liquify solids and grease, eliminate odor, and assure clear non-contaminated affluent flowing into the drain field.

Regular use of SEPTONIC septic tank conditioner can eliminate the necessity for pumping the tank.

with a bachelor's degree in urban and rural planning. Originally from San Jose, Porter said while in school he interned in a number of cities, including the recently incorporated city of Santa Clarita. He also studied architecture for three years at West Valley College. Rick Tooker (right), said he was born and raised in Marin County and has a bachelor's degree in sociology from the University of California, Berkeley. He recently earned a master's degree in planning from Cal Poly San Luis Obispo. He recently worked at the city of Arroyo Seco. (Nancy Hills photo.)

This year's danger from fire is far from over

DURING THE first 10 days in July, wildland fires burned 25,240 acres of California and, in Carmel Valley alone, two major fires struck the same Hitchcock Canyon area, consumed about 120 acres, and threatened a number of homes.

Now, even though it's well into September, this year's far danger is far from over, according to Carmel Valley Fire Chief Bob Heald.

"The land is tinder-dry," Heald said, "and the threat of more fires will remain until the first substantial rains come in the fall."

In California, property losses to wildfires mount as more and more people buy homes in outlying areas. Many people, like the Hitchcock Canyon residents, build beyond service districts. That area, along with all other California wildland areas, are serviced by the California Department of Forestry.

"The Carmel Valley Fire District initially fought fire in the brush and trees on both Hitchcock Canyon fires," Heald said, "but our primary concern was to concentrate on protecting the structures in the area."

Unfortunately, fire and law enforcement personnel found their tasks more difficult because of the extremely harsh condition of the terrain and flammable vegetation in the Hitchcock Canyon area, Heald added.

Whether living in a city, the suburbs, a town, or in a rural area, no one is truly safe. Heald suggested that all Carmel Valley and peninsula residents look at ways to reduce the burnability of their homes and minimizing the fire threat to their communities. Complying with current State Fire Prevention Laws will help maintain the natural look of this area while, at the same time, increase chances of wildland fire survival.

Present law requires residents to:

(1) Remove the majority of native brush within at least 30 feet from buildings (50 feet is much better, Heald said). If thinned and dead portions are removed, individual plants may be left in place. Wide spacing is important. Remove limbs up to one-third the height of plants and remove tall, flammable ground cover from around the base.

(2) Grass, weeds, and low-growing native plants should be mowed close to the ground. This reduces their fire-carrying potential and provides for stable soil.

(3) Replace weeded areas with fire resistant plants (i.e., Algerian ivy, Sunrose, Carmel Creeper, white trailing ice plant, rosea ice plant, stonecrops, wild strawberry, African Daisy, etc.). This lessens annual maintenance needs.

(4) Trees within the 30-foot area should be limbed up to at least 60 feet, and dead limbs and foliage removed. Base vegetation should be removed to prevent ground fire from "crowning" into a tree.

"To reduce hazards, consider removing garden plants that are particularly flammable," Heald suggested. He named cypress, eucalyptus, juniper, pines, fountain grass, etc.

Even fire retardant landscapes need to be constantly maintained. "Ice plant gets woody and burns easily, or what seems to be a moist, green layer of ivy can conceal a dozen inches of dry twigs and runners just waiting to burst into flame," he warned. "Uncleared brush, unwatered hillside plantings, and unpruned trees act like fuses and can lead a fire right to your home," he added.

WHAT ABOUT the house itself? Quick-burning wood roofs are a hazard. They accelerate individual house fire and produce flying brands that can spread a fire over great distances.

Wood roofs are so dangerous, in fact, that in Northern California, over 40 communities now ban or sharply restrict their use. Because there are so many different kinds of roofs on homes in this area, residents are encouraged to check their own roofs with fire officials to see what they can do to insure maximum fire retardation.

Heald suggested that porches and/or low decks be solidly skirted.

"Once a fire takes hold under a porch or house, it's nearly impossible to put it out," he said. "Don't stack cordwood or debris against the house because that's almost the same as providing kindling to a fire."

Heald strongly recommended installing an approved spark arrester on chimneys and putting wire-mesh screens on all roof vents.

"Anyone who lives in a wildland area should consider providing alternate exit routes from her or his property, if at all possible," Heald said. "No one wants to be driving out a narrow one-lane entry road just as a fire truck comes roaring up. That's what happened at both Hitchcock Canyon fires, and it made for a very difficult situation."

All of the precautions in the world are futile if the area (neighborhood) itself is littered with firetraps: rickety bridges, narrow winding roads, junk, littered yards, etc. Homeowners might consider community brush-clearing and greenbelt-planting efforts, fire-education service, or fire-crisis plans.

California has the West's most forward-looking fire laws. According to the September, 1989 issue of Sunset magazine, the state's new wildland fire regulations (expected to become law by 1991), will include provisions particularly aimed at people who live in remote, densely vegetated areas, like Hitchcock Canyon, Cachagua, Carmel Valley, and parts of the Monterey Peninsula

(remember the disastrous Pebble Beach fire?). Once implemented, these regulations will require that:

- Each house have a reservoir of 2,500 gallons of water for fire fighting (a swimming pool holds about 20,000 gallons).

- New houses must be set back far enough from property lines so homeowners can maintain a 30-foot-wide perimeter that's fuel free (as already required by law).

- All roads and streets within a county must be uniformly and visibly signed, with no duplicated names. Addresses must be posted at the street side of the driveway using house numbers that contrast with the background and are at least 4 inches high.

- Roads must accommodate emergency equipment and evacuating residents, and any bridges should be strong enough to support a fire engine (20 tons).

"Because of the dangerous situation in this area, local homeowners would be wise to begin taking these steps immediately," Heald said. "As firefighters, we try to save houses, but in the final analysis, it is the homeowner who is in the best position to prevent and control wildland fires."

Knowledge of CPR could save lives

MORE THAN 70 percent of all CPR (cardiopulmonary resuscitation) rescues occur in the home on an individual known by the rescuer.

Statistics show that more than 650,000 people in the United States died from heart attacks in 1986 and that heart disease is the leading cause of death in Monterey County.

On the other hand CPR saves more than 250 lives a day; the more people that know CPR, the more lives that can be saved.

With that in mind the Carmel Chapter of the American Red Cross offers CPR classes monthly all year.

Classes are held at the Carmel Red Cross house at Eighth and Dolores. Classes include demonstrations and teaching of the Heimlich maneuver. Cost is $15 for the eight-hour class. A certificate will be presented upon completion.

For more information call the Red Cross at 624-6921.

REGISTRATION FOR NATIONAL DEFENSE

Next Friday, September 12 — all day — is National Defense Day.

All patriotic men and women, between the ages of 18 and 45, who desire to do so, may register.

In this way the federal government may ascertain its potential man power resources, not for offense, but for defense.

An all-peninsula parade will be held in Monterey at 2:30, to be followed by patriotic exercises at the ball park. The public is invited to participate.

Carmelites may register at the office or the Pine Cone.

THEY'RE GOING TO WAR! BRITISHERS LEAVE CARMEL

Exodus to war began in Carmel this week with several Britishers packing their bags and kissing their wives goodbye, those that were married.

Although he will probably not see actual gunfire, Robert Walsh, brilliant Englishman, who has resided in Carmel for several months, was on his way Wednesday to offer his services as one of the best electrical engineers this country has seen.

Lord Lionel Tennyson, grandson of the poet, Lord Alfred Tennyson, an English soldier and long a peninsula resident, is already with his regiment.

James Farquharson Leys, who had been in Carmel last year, was one of the first to leave, going to San Francisco preparatory to sailing for Hong Kong to rejoin his old machine gun company.

Many Canadian Army people, winter residents of Carmel for many years, will probably be absent this winter due to the war.

PERMISSION ASKED FOR LIZ AND BURTON FILMING IN CARMEL

Tonight, William D. Curtis, local representative for M-G-M, will ask the city council for permission to film sequences of "The Sandpiper" in Carmel.

Locations he will request will be either on Lincoln or San Carlos streets south of Ocean Avenue.

Sequences for the motion picture starring Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton are now being filmed on the Doud Ranch south of Carmel.

Filming in Carmel, Mr. Curtis says, in whatever location finally selected, will take less than an hour.

PREFERENTIAL PARKING PROGRAM REJECTED

Preferential parking for residents isn't the answer to the downtown parking problem the Carmel Planning Commission decided last week.

After a lengthy discussion on the proposal to implement the program for a one-year trial period, the commission instead voted unanimously to appoint another ad hoc committee to study the situation "on a broader basis and to find alternate solutions."

The rejection of the resident parking permit in favor of a "broader study" was favored by a majority of the commission at its Aug. 24 meeting.

BORONDA RESIDENTS PUSH FOR INTERIM MEASURES

Frustration is mounting among Boronda area residents of the Carmel River who want some kind of interim erosion protection this winter.

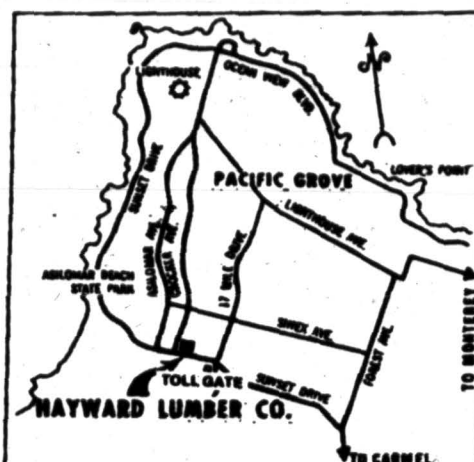

Members of the Committee for Common Sense attended an Aug. 27 meeting of the Carmel River Advisory Committee to ask for some immediate river protection measures, since a proposed Carmel River Management Program can't be implemented until next spring.

Historical survey training to start

TRAINING FOR the Carmel Heritage Historical survey has been scheduled for the end of the month, and the survey will begin immediately after.

Training, to be conducted by consultant GeeGee Platt, is from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 30, with an hour off for lunch. The Sunday, Oct. 1 schedule is from 10 a.m. to noon for a field excursion for those who will be doing the survey on the streets, and from 2 to 6 p.m. for all volunteers. Training is at the Scout House, located at corner Mission Street and Seventh Avenue.

"We are putting together packets for everyone and lunch so we need to know who is coming," Carmel Heritage representative Enid Sales said.

Any volunteers who have not returned their forms should do so, Enid Sales said, and people who wish to volunteer may call Rosalee Gladney at 659-2710 or Carmel Heritage at 624-4447. Both numbers have answering machines if there is no one to take a message.

The survey is intended to establish a record of every house and building in Carmel as well as historically and culturally significant sites.

Sales, a survey coordinator, said that

Carmel Heritage still would appreciate donations from local businesses, including soft drinks and snacks for the training sessions. Mediterranean Market is catering the lunch at cost, Blue Ribbon Photo is donating the film and Spencer's Stationary has donated $500 of stationery supplies.

Fire restrictions in forest increased

LOS PADRES National Forest Supervisor Art Carroll announced that "Stage II" fire restrictions were in effect on the forest starting Aug. 2.

The restrictions will affect campers in all areas of the 1.7-million acre forest which stretches along the coast from the Los Angeles/Ventura County line all the way up to Carmel.

Stage II restrictions prohibit ALL fire use outside of developed recreation sites; restricts vehicle use, including motorcycles and ATVs, to forest development roads; and prohibits the use of smoking tobacco except in the developed recreation sites or in enclosed vehicles. The fire restrictions apply to ALL wood burning fires and camp stoves, regardless of the fuel type used.

According to Carroll: "We have experienced an extended period of high fire danger brought on by lower than normal fuel moisture levels, high temperatures, and low humidity readings in many parts of the forest. We realize that this action may prove inconvenient to the many deer hunters who will be visiting the forest in the next few weeks, but our first concern is for their safety and the safety of other forest users, as well as preservation of the watershed and wildlife values of the forest. There should be ample room in the developed campsites to accommodate the hunters as well as other recreationists."

Carroll noted that the Stage II restrictions are from two to six weeks earlier than usual, emphasizing the severe fire danger conditions in most backcountry areas of the forest.

In a "normal" year, the restrictions are usually lifted in mid-October, or following appreciable rainfall during the fall and winter months.

City council meets Thursday

THE CARMEL City Council meets at 4 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 7 in Carmel City Council Chambers at Carmel City Hall.

On the agenda will be a discussion on considering entering into negotiations for the purchase of the approximately 6.5 acres called the Hodges property, located behind the Carmel Mission complex.

Seniors program needs participants

CARMEL POLICE Department's "Seniors Helping Seniors" program has need for two types of seniors: those who would like to help and those who desire help.

According to Cathy Dampier, desk officer, there are seniors who are looking for some type of community involvement to donate their time and others who are lonely, "shut-ins," or are "at-risk" due to medical or physical reasons and desire contact with someone who cares about their welfare.

Under the program, senior volunteers call participants of the program by telephone from the Carmel Police Department. If for some reason the recipient doesn't answer the phone, the volunteer alerts the police dispatcher and a patrol unit is sent to check on the participant's welfare. To be effective, calls are made at about the same time every day, Dampier said, but the seniors aren't restricted to their homes. If they plan to be gone, they merely notify the police department in advance.

In addition to the daily phone calls, home visitations, tea parties, and luncheons are also scheduled to "further enhance and improve the quality of our contacts" with those who are shut-ins or at-risk, Dampier said.

Anyone interested in becoming a volunteer or a recipient of the "Seniors Helping Seniors" program is encouraged to call the Carmel Police Department at 624-6403.

10K 'Run for the Beacon' is Sept. 17

Entry forms are now available at Beacon House for the seventh annual Monterey Bay 10K — Run for the Beacon. The date is Sunday, Sept. 17.

Early entries (prior to Sept. 10) pay $12 and will receive a long-sleeve T-shirt.

This scenic, TAC-certified race, with start and finish at Lover's Point Park in Pacific Grove, is run on a flat, paved coastal course. The Monterey Bay 10K is the largest run of its type on the Monterey Peninsula. All age groups will again be represented as well as wheelchair entrants. Race day registration is 6:30 to 8:30 a.m., with starting time at 9 a.m.

The Monterey Bay 10K is staged each year to raise funds for Beacon House, a non-profit community based residential alcohol recovery program.

Pick up your entry at Beacon House, or for information call 372-2334.

New dance programs at Hidden Valley

Hidden Valley Dance Center is now taking registration for its fall program. Classes begin Sept. 11 with pre-registration by mail or in person.

A fully graded curriculum for the professional and non-professional dancer aged 5 to adult will be presented. Classes will be offered in classical ballet, pointe, floor barre, jazz and tap. Fran Spector will head the program with Susan Cable, a dance instructor from Los Angeles, joining the staff to teach jazz and tap.

Several dance intensives will be held during October and November including a five-week ballroom dance workshop with Walter and Debbie White, a weekend intensive in Kongoese dance and drumming led by Titos Sompá, and a two-day dance intensive in ballet, jazz, tap and flamenco.

Full details and brochure call Hidden Valley Dance Center at 659-3115.

Where am I?

How MANY times do we get lost during our lifetime? And is it true that people who give us directions don't even know where they are? Why do people try to be so helpful when all they're doing is getting us more lost?

Take for example the lost tourist in a strange town. Who does he ask for directions? A person who has been a permanent fixture in the community for over a hundred years? Does he ask the mailman who carries a map in his hip pocket? Does he ask the police officer who knows every invisible street? Of course not! He'll ask another tourist who looks like a lifetime resident.

"Where is the nearest post office?" asks the lost tourist as he stands there shuffling a deck of postcards labeled, "Wish you were here!"

"The 'Looks like a lifetime resident' responds, hesitating every few seconds, "Walk about three blocks up yonder, hang a left and walk fast for about five minutes. You'll see a green house with a white mailbox. (Hesitate.) Go past it! Head on down a piece and then scoot on over to the other side of the street until you come to a white house with a green mailbox. (Hesitate.) Maybe it's yellow. Anyway, keep walking until you see an intersection. Make a left and keep walking until you see a drugstore. Go past the drugstore until you see another drugstore. Make a left at that corner. (Hesitate.)

If you want to take a short cut then walk through the drugstore. But you better buy something or they won't let you out. Take a quick right after you leave the drugstore with your purchase and you'll see a small shopping center. Go past it until you see a red blinking light. (Hesitate.) You'll see a fork in the road. Take a sharp right. If you go left you'll end up at the cemetery. (Hesitate.) Maybe you take a left? Scratch what I said before. Just go straight. Don't make a left and don't make a right. Go down a couple of blocks and you'll see a sign that says Bob's Pest Control. The post office is right behind the sign and over to the left by the alley. You can't miss it. (Hesitate.) It's an easy walk!"

You don't dare ask that person to repeat it because you know it won't sound the same. The "Looks like a resident" tourist leaves. You glance at your wife and ask if she wrote it down. looks at you with a blank expression that could kill a town. You spend the next four hours looking for the post office. If you're lucky you'll make it to the post office before midnight.

To separate the locals from the tourists one needs to attach an orange button on them that reads, "I am a tourist. Do not ask ME directions."

And if you do, you will enter into the twilight hour of red blinking lights, little green houses and white mailboxes.

One second of the sun's energy is 13 million times the annual mean electricity consumption of the United States.

Back-to-school traffic alert issued by CSAA

IN A back-to-school alert, the California State Automobile Association (AAA) points out that 1,450 child pedestrians were killed and 26,000 injured in auto accidents in the United States in 1987.

Approximately 10 percent of the child pedestrian fatalities in 1987 occurred in California, along with 24 percent of the injuries.

"School's Open — Drive Carefully" is the slogan for the AAA-affiliated auto club's campaign, drawing attention to the potential traffic dangers confronting school children and motorists. Approximately 17 percent of all pedestrian deaths in this country and 37 percent of all pedestrian injuries during 1987 involved youngsters under 15 years old.

Emphasizing that half of all child pedestrian deaths and injuries happen when children cross or enter streets, CSAA officials urge drivers to follow all vehicle code and safety rules including:

- Drive cautiously near school bus zones.
- On an undivided roadway, stop if a school bus just ahead displays flashing red lights. Don't move your car until the red lights are turned off.
- Look out for youngsters emerging from between parked cars or from shrubbery.

Additional CSAA reminders for drivers:

- At school crosswalks, stop for children crossing the street by themselves or escorted by school safety patrols.
- Follow instructions from adult crossing guards and school bus drivers.
- Parents are reminded by CSAA to:
  - Choose a safe place to drop off and pick up children at school.
  - Never double park in front of a school because it blocks the visibility of motorists and children.

CSAA is working with major northern California companies to educate motorists about the "School's Open" program.

Companies are being asked to display CSAA traffic safety posters and to distribute safe driving information with employee paychecks. Traffic safety messages also are being displayed on milk cartons and grocery bags throughout northern and central California and Nevada.

CSAA urges parents to teach children the following safety rules:

- Choose the safest route to school.
- Avoid busy streets and complicated intersections.
- Use corners patrolled by school safety patrols or school crossing guards whenever possible.
- Learn about traffic signals. Remember that in some areas symbols are used instead of "walk" or "don't walk."
- Look in all directions before crossing the street.
- If there is a sidewalk, be sure to use it. When walking on roads without sidewalks, face the oncoming traffic.

TAKE MY WORD FOR IT

By D. Patrick Gallagher

Poor Kennebunkport

IT HAS BEEN more than a year since Carmel gave up its celebrity mayor. The two years Clint Eastwood served at City Hall brought the village a mixed bag of benefits and liabilities, although few of the latter can be blamed on Mr. Eastwood. The town achieved a new notoriety, increased business, more tourists (all types), more traffic congestion and a general disruption of the lives of the permanent residents. It was nothing, I suspect, compared to what Kennebunkport is about to endure.

Kennebunkport, Maine is the hometown of that "Texan," George Herbert Walker Bush, 41st President of the United States. I don't mean to denigrate Mr. Eastwood's popularity, but a sitting president is likely to be a greater draw than a movie star except, possibly, when they are one in the same.

Carmel and Kennebunkport have much in common. Both are small seaside villages (approximately 4,000 inhabitants each); both are insular by nature, being geographically isolated in almost identical ways; both are accessed from coastal highways by a street called Ocean Avenue; both have quaint commercial centers whose charm is a lure to millions of tourists annually and, as a result, both suffer from an excess of commercialism.

When I was at school in New England, I looked forward to summer vacations at the Cape and in Maine. Kennebunkport was a favorite stop on day trips or weekends and I enjoyed the time spent on the jetty catching crabs with a stick or eating in one of the small cafes on the river or in Dock Square. There used to be a gas station, a hardware store, a market and a movie theatre on Dock Square. They are all gone now, replaced by stores with names such as Fragipani. Carmel has suffered some of the same fate, but during my visit to Kennebunkport last summer I had the distinct feeling we have done a better job of retaining our local character. Our English architecture is threatened by the less attractive Mediterranean, but generally the planning controls have done a good job of keeping Carmel's charm intact.

We still have two hardware stores (for the moment), three markets, two movie theatres, two gas stations, but now only one drug store. It may not remain true, but for the present we appear to be ahead of the mob, if only barely. Perhaps, we can credit our antiquity. New Englanders are always surprised to hear that Carmel has borne its name longer than any other place in the United States having been founded by the Carmelite Fathers seven years before Jamestown.

For some time now, long before George Bush became president, Dock Square suffered grid-lock during the summer with few available parking spaces, a situation familiar year-round to Carmelites. Real estate prices are on the rise, but that has been true of all coastal-Maine property these past few years, just as it is for the California coast. The village residences in both towns retain the quaint charm that attracts and pleases visitors. Both have tree-lined streets with a proliferation of flowers in the spring, although they have more water for theirs. Both places remind the visitor of the all-American home town, a place where we all wish we had been born and reared. Even the coastline stretching outward from the village center is similar in each town, a combination of sandy beaches, rocks and tide pools and dotted with beautiful homes taking advantage of inspiring sea views. The Carmel River, of course, is no match for the Kennebunk, which was until recently a center for the construction of fishing boats.

The commercialism inundating Kennebunkport and Carmel is no different from that which claimed Hyannis on Cape Cod. During and after the presidency of John Kennedy, this decent summer community metamorphosed into the world capital of turquoise JFK ashtrays, not dissimilar in their tackiness from our own "Clintville" T-shirts. It will take a major effort by the residents of Hyannis to reclaim their town from the "marketeers of glitz." During my stay on the Cape last year, I deliberately avoided Hyannis preferring the protected enclave of Barnstable on the Cape Bay side. Barnstable is in the Cape's Historic District with its beautiful greenery, tasteful streets and small centers. Hyannis, on the other hand, has never recovered from rampant development, weak zoning, greed and bad taste.

The general "democratic" belief is everyone ought to have access to these areas, including the right to live there. The reality is much of the beauty of places such as Kennebunkport and Carmel is their fragile environment and the very real limitations imposed on them by nature. The Carmels and Kennebunkports of this world can endure only so many permanent residents before the sheer number of them destroy the very things which drew them there in the first place. The philosophers of "sacred property rights" and "progress," who will argue that point need to be reminded of another of their own creeds: life is not fair.

There is much Carmel could learn from the Hyannis experience and which Kennebunkport could learn from Carmel. Perhaps all three should exchange ambassadors to help advise each other on shared problems. Perhaps a national small-cities league is in order to map a strategy for survival. Carmel and Kennebunkport are considering the protection offered by historic preservation, similar to that which protects Barnstable. It is probably a wise move since we may each be in danger of losing that which makes us unique. The concept of "progress" is not a suicide pact. One does not continue to defend such a concept while drowning in its quagmire.

"I ASKED GOD"

I asked God for strength,
that I might achieve...
I was made weak,
that I might learn humbly to obey.
I asked for health,
that I might do greater things...
I was given infirmity,
that I might do better things.
I asked for riches,
that I might be happy...
I was given poverty,
that I might be wise.
I asked for power,
that I might have the praise of men...
I was given weakness
that I might feel the need of God.
I asked for all things,
that I might enjoy life...
I was given life,
that I might enjoy all things.
I got nothing that I asked for,
but everything that I had hoped for.
Almost despite myself,
my unspoken prayers were answered.
I am among all men, most richly blessed.

Q. Do I really need an estate plan? What's the worst that could happen without one?

A: What happens is that federal and state governments put their plans into action — plans you may not like. Formal estate planning helps ensure financial security and distributes your assets according to your wishes at the lowest possible tax rate.

If any of the following situations describes your circumstances, consulting with a professional estate planner will help you:

One, you have a gifted child or spouse. Planning can assure them the financial support to fully develop their talents.

Two, you have a spouse or heir who can't or doesn't want to handle assets or run a business. Foresight in the form of an estate plan will avoid thrusting unwanted responsibility upon them.

Three, you have property in more than one state. Planning can prevent two or more states from taxing the same property.

Four, you want to leave assets to charity. A sound plan can maximize the amount the charity will receive.

If you want your wishes for your estate to prevail, start your estate planning today.

THE NEW Mazda MX-5 Miata's sole reason for being is to provide pure driving enjoyment. For this reason Mazda's designers kept the concept simple — one body style, one engine, and a sophisticated suspension and drivetrain. Extensive computer analysis allowed Mazda to make the body of the Miata rigid but lightweight.

Choral Society meets Tuesdays

The Monterey Peninsula Choral Society has appointed Barney Hulse as the music director and conductor for the 1989-90 season.

Rehearsals take place 7 to 10 p.m. Tuesdays at the Church of Religious Science, 400 W. Franklin St., Monterey. This year the Choral Society will perform the Christmas portion of Handel's "Messiah" with the Monterey Bay Symphony, on Dec. 8-9 at the Carmel Mission Basilica.

The soloists will be Nancy Williams, soprano; Katrina Carlson, mezzo; Gene Albin, tenor; and David Cox-Cresswell, bass.

Auditions for choral members may be arranged by calling 899-8494. For further Choral Society information, call 375-0213.

Free tours offered of observatory

Free tours of the Oliver Observing Station run by the Monterey Institute for Research in Astronomy at Chews Ridge will be offered on selected Sundays at 1:30 and 3:30 p.m.

Founded in 1972, MIRA is one of very few independent professional observatories in the United States. MIRA's 36-inch telescope, state-of-the-art instrumentation and unusual observatory building combine to permit the rapid acquisition of high quality data. MIRA astronomers are engaged in a wide range of projects, from the study of the birth, life and death of stars, to comets sweeping through the solar system.

Tours are set Sept. 10 and Oct. 15 (weather permitting). Reservations must be made since space is limited. To make a reservation and obtain map and instructions, call 375-3220.

"We'll take this one"

1990 MAZDA MIATA

By Jim Johnson

"We'll take two"

AT THE TIME it seemed like a responsible proposal. If Scott maintained a 3.5 G.P.A. through his milestone 16th birthday, I would match his down payment contribution for a car. Also, I agreed to guarantee a modest auto loan, $1,000 apiece and $100 per month seemed to be in line for a good late model used Honda or V.W.

I did not give our agreement further thought until Scott posed the question: "Dad, if I pay payments of $200 per month, how much money can I borrow?" "What did you have in mind son?" I asked. "Well, at my deposit rate I should have $5,000 saved and with your $5,000 plus $200 per month, I was wondering if I could afford package B instead of package A on a new Mazda Miata. In addition to power steering, alloy wheels, a leather wrapped steering wheel and an AM/FM stereo with cassette player, Package B includes power windows, cruise control and headrest speakers."

I had always encouraged Scott to set his sights high. A well maintained used BMW represented a good investment, and a late model Acura Integra, excellent safety marks. When Scott surprised me with a Japanese copy of Colin Chapman's Lotus Elan, my unspoken response was no!

Let the Japanese and Germans pit their vast automotive resources against one another. Trying to "snuff" Lotus was to threaten our ally. Lotuses were manufactured in a quaint old brick garage on a foggy Millbrook alley.

Regaining my composure, I suggested that he consider buying American. "Wouldn't restoring a Camaro or Mustang be a fun project for us?" "Why dad, you drive a Mercedes and mom's Volvo wagon is Swedish. Besides, you are too busy playing golf on the weekends to wash your own car."

"How did you save $5,000, Scott?" "I had a garage sale, dad. While you were away on business, mom said it was all right to sell out old cloths and appliances instead of donating them for the rummage sale. My birthday and Christmas presents were not exactly what I wanted, so I returned them. I have also been doubling up on my bussing shifts at the manor. Can we test drive cars tomorrow?" It seemed like only yesterday "Scooter" was asking for his first new bike.

A Miata was about to lever my second childhood. On the way to explore our automobile choices, I suggested safety as our priority. "Good thinking, dad, an air bag is standard on the Miata." Yes, affixed at the bottom of the windshield in obvious, bold lettering, is the word airbag.

The sales lady was very accommodating. She just happened to have the dealer's demonstrator available for a road test. Of course, it was not for sale. The Miata's interior was all too familiar. I looked at the gauges and they had the same black facing. Only the white VDO trade marks were missing. Appearance of the black vinyl upholstery and carpet matting were typical. I reached for the gear shift lever and it was right where I had left it in my Triumph TR 6 twenty years ago. It even blocked the 8-track tape deck opening. Only the 8-track had been replaced with a cassette player. The rag top's (it is canvas) latches are still manual but open and close without dislocating thumbs. The Miata's interior is reminiscent of a classic British sports car.

Mazda experimented with 200 different exhaust sounds to recreate the perfect British exhaust tune of the 1950s and '60s. A classic Solex carburetor "cough" precedes the acoustical effect of Miata's smooth acceleration.

I expected to find a surplus Mazda front-wheel drive unit with adequate underpinnings camouflaged beneath the nostalgic computer-aided exterior design. What I discovered was four-wheel independent double wishbone suspension supporting a dual overhead camshaft 16-valve, fuel-injected,

1.6 liter, 116 horsepower, four-cylinder engine. The Miata is the best performing light, front-engine, rear-drive sports car I have ever driven. It feels balanced, safe, solid, and fast.

I was anxious as I waited for Scott to finish his road test. He would have plenty of time to drive his own Miata. At the sales desk I asked for the best deal and was quoted a price substantially above the $13,800 base price.

"Wasn't that more than the sticker price?" I questioned. "Have you ever paid the sticker price for a car, Mr. Reid?" "Well, no — what if I buy two?" "If your color choices are open we might have them for you by the end of next month." "Red, white, and blue." Of course.

"We'll take two."

PEBBLE BEACH WOMAN MAKES RED CROSS DONATION

Mrs. Frances Benton of Pebble Beach has donated $1,000 to the Carmel-by-the-Sea Chapter of the American Red Cross to be used to purchase jackets, rain parkas, rain boots and sweatshirts and pants. This apparel, with Red Cross logos, will be loaned to team members of the disaster action group, when needed, according to Phil Gray, Red Cross public relations.

NEW ACQUISITIONS AT MUSEUM

In 1988 the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art was the proud recipient of a $20,000 grant to purchase works for its permanent collection through the Metropolitan Life Foundation's Museum Grant for Minority Visual Arts Program. As a follow-up to the Artist and the Myth exhibition, works purchased by this grant were created by contemporary Hispanic and Native American artists who utilize imagery relating to traditional mythologies. This new work not only expands our contemporary collection, but also relates to the ethnic, tribal and folk art collection, for many of these pieces have a sacred or mythological function or content themselves.

Featured artists include Harry Fonseca (with selections from his Coyote series), Eduardo Carrillo, Randy Lee White,

WESTERNERS TO MEET

The next meeting of the Monterey County Corral of Westerners will be on Monday, September 11 at St. John's Parish Hall in Monterey. There will be a program at 8 p.m. The program is free and is open to the public.

The program will be given by Pacific Grove resident John Gore, who will speak on "The Pescadero Point Ranch." He recently retired after 34 years as an executive with the Western Pacific Railroad Company.

Westerners is an international organization of people interested in the history of the American West. Independent chapters, or "Corrals," are found throughout the world. The Monterey County Corral of Westerners meets on the second Monday of the month throughout the year, at St. John's Parish Hall, Mark Thomas Drive and Josselyn Canyon Road in Monterey. A pot-luck dinner at 7 p.m. is followed by a program at 8 p.m. Further information is available at the meetings or by calling Raymond Kelly at 624-4490 or Art Benoit at 375-5055.

DAVID KINGSLEY STUDIES AT OCCIDENTAL

Carmel resident David Kingsley will begin undergraduate studies at Occidental College, where the Carmel High School graduate will join 425 other incoming members of the class of 1993.

Founded in 1887, Occidental College is a private, liberal arts institution of 1,680 students located in the Eagle Rock area of Los Angeles.

ITALIAN CATHOLICS SERVE BREAKFAST

The Italian Catholic Federation No. 206, Pacific Grove, will serve breakfast on Sunday, Sept. 10, in St. Angela's church hall, 10th and Lighthouse Ave., Pacific Grove, from 8 a.m. to noon. Menu includes pancakes, ham, eggs, juice and coffee.

Price is $3.50 for adults and $2 for children under 10. There will also be a bake sale. Proceeds are for charities.

CHUNG IS TOASTMASTERS PRESIDENT

Margaret Chung has been installed as president of the Pacific Grove Toastmasters Club, D.L.I. No. 3842.

Serving with her are Nora M. Walsh, Pacific Grove, administrative vice president; Virginia Montanez, Pacific Grove, educational vice president; Tolly Martin, Pacific Grove, treasurer; Aina Turner, Pacific Grove, secretary and Moya Grant, Carmel, sergeant-at-arms.

The club meets 7 to 8 p.m. Mondays at the Church of Christ, 176 Central Ave., Pacific Grove. The meetings are open to prospective members. For more information call Nora M. Walsh, 375-5266.

GARDEN ASSOCIATION PLANS PICNIC

Carmel Valley Garden Association's fall picnic is scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 17. Members and guests will again meet at the Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club at the end of Garzas Road. A social hour begins at 11:30, with luncheon served at 1 p.m.

Outstanding annual dues of $12 for each member will be collected. Those interested in membership are encouraged to attend. Further information may be obtained by calling Mr. or Mrs. Carl Stewart at 624-3671.

STUDENTS CELEBRATE GRANDPARENTS' DAY

The students of Junipero Serra School will celebrate "Grandparents' Day" with a special tribute to their grandparents at the school, at noon on Friday, Sept. 8.

The program will begin with an opening ceremony in the

TRAINING SEMINARS FOR NON-PROFITS SCHEDULED

The Volunteer Center, a central volunteer coordinating service which recruits and refers volunteers to serve the community in non-profit agencies and organizations, has announced the 1989-1990 series of seminars in management.
These seminars will enable agencies and organizations to serve their clients more effectively and will provide skills for those who serve or would like to serve on boards of directors.

The series has been enthusiastically endorsed by the Community Foundation for Monterey County, County of Monterey Department of Social Services, and the United Way of the Monterey Peninsula. The faculty will consist of locally and nationally known trainers who will come to the peninsula to share the wealth of their knowledge and expertise.

Kicking off the series will be Dr. Eva Schindler-Rainman of Los Angeles will do workshops on Sept. 7 and June 7, 1990.
The focus will be on organizational strategies for effective ways to determine goals for initiating provision for creative ways in which to improve services to the community. Rainman has just returned from Bethel, Maine where she was Dean of the Faculty for the National Training Labs summer session.
She has her doctorate in Sociology from the University of Southern California where she is an adjunct faculty member.

Rainman has done similar workshops all across the country, in Hawaii, Alaska and as far away as Micronesia and Germany, to name a few locations. She is the author of numerous books on the volunteer community.

Arty Trost from Portland, Ore. will follow in October with a workshop on "Planning and Policy Making for Board and Staff members." Trost is a newly appointed teaching fellow at the National Training Labs and has trained extensively all over the country. She is the author of Gaining Momentum a manual for board action.

Places are available in all the sessions and there is a discount for more than one representative from each agency.
Individuals who want to upgrade their skills are very welcome and will be urged to become a part of the volunteer Center's Board Bank. Please call the Volunteer Center at 373-6177 for information and reservations.

FOSLER AWARDED $1,000

ALLSTATE FOUNDATION SCHOLARSHIP

Jason H. Fosler of Carmel, is a 1989 recipient of a $1,000
Allstate Foundation Scholarship.

A psychology major at University of California at Berkeley, Jason is the son of Howard B. Fosler, an Allstate employee in the company's Carmel office.

One hundred students nationwide were awarded a $1,000 scholarship through The Allstate Foundation Scholarship Program. The program provides scholarships to qualified dependent children of employees of Allstate Insurance Company and its affiliated companies.

The Allstate Foundation Scholarship is awarded on the basis of academic record, potential to succeed, participation in school and community activities, work experience, statement of educational and career goals, and a supplied reference.
Although the Allstate Foundation funds the scholarships, all selections and administration are handled by Citizens' Scholarship Foundation of America, Inc. (CFSFA), a national non-profit student aid service organization.

The Golden Years

By Myles Williams

"I don't want to get addicted to TV, and I'm not a shuffleboard type." That's how Odilon Long, at age 86, explained why he was looking for a new challenge after setting a Peace Corps record, serving longer than any other volunteer. He volunteered for the corps in 1967, after the Midwestern company for which he had worked 41 years "kicked me out when I turned 65." He shared his construction know-how in four African countries, Haiti and Costa Rica, advising on building schools, roads and bridges.

Who is more interested or better qualified than a senior citizen to compile the history of the local community? More towns and other small municipalities are appointing seniors as official historians. In Bedford, New York, the town board saluted Donald Marshall on his 90th birthday for 25 years of service as town historian. During that time he edited nine volumes of historical records and served as a trustee for historic property.

Remember When? September 3, 1940 — To strengthen Britain's lone fight against Hitler's attacks, the United States transferred 50 destroyers to the Royal Navy for defense against the air and U-boat blockade, and Britain leased bases in the Caribbean to the United States.

FATHER FARRELL'S WISDOM

Don't be afraid to cry 'HELP'

Carmel Pine Cone
August 13, 1981

Oh Lord, bless our Congressman Leon Panetta so that he may continue to represent his constituents with the dedication and sensitivity he has shown in his demanding task; and bless all our elected representatives — they need it, Lord.

Here is the world's shortest prayer to be cried out in anguish when our world is turned upside down; and we are fed up, feeling lousy; when we are too damn tired to pray; when we are in a big rush; when everyone is in our dog house; when everyone grates on our nerves; when everyone drives us up the wall; when we are up the proverbial creek and the paddle is broken; when we have plans to liquidate our friends as well as our enemies. Now listen carefully — it's really short! "HELP." Amen.

Give extra bags to Goodwill

Goodwill Industries is putting out a call for paper and plastic bags for use in their stores in Monterey and Santa Cruz counties. Grocery bags will be received at Goodwill stores and Attended Donation Stations throughout the area.

Festival fever

THE GRANDDADDY of all blues festivals, the 17th Annual San Francisco Blues Festival, is not only the longest continually running blues festival in the country, but is one of the best run and organized festivals around, not to mention the topnotch talent it showcases every year.

Set this year for Saturday, Sept. 9 and Sunday, Sept. 10, here's the eye-popping lineup, from opener to headliner:

Al Rapone & the Zydeco Express (a band that sizzled at June's Monterey Bay Blues Festival); former Little Richard sideman Grady Gaines and the Texas Upsetters featuring James "Thunderbird" Davis; Saxophone Madness with Richie Cole and Big Jay McNeely (an unusual, but inspired choice); Duke Robillard and the Pleasure Kings; Ernestine Anderson; The Legendary Blues Band; and Johnny Winter, the albino Texas bluesman with the fiery guitar and outrageous tatoos.

For Sunday, hang on to your hats because it's a doozy:

Ron Hacker & Dave Wellhausen; Chicago Beau; the Gospel Hummingbirds; Dr. Hepcat; Terrance Simien and the Mallet Playboys (for my money the best zydeco band in the land); Ronnie Earl and the Broadcasters (too bad they couldn't get Roomful of Blues, then they could have had a guitar reunion with Earl and Duke Robillard, both Roomful alumnus);

Chicago bluesman Otis Rush; and Etta James and the Roots Band.

(At press time blues harmonica great James Cotton was scheduled to play but is laid up in a Chicago hospital for treatment of an ulcer. In his place the festival managed to grab another blues great, guitarist Albert King, best known for the classics 'Born Under a Bad Sign' and 'Crosscut Saw'.)

One of the nice things about the SF Blues Fest is the location — especially on a nice sunny day. The Great Meadow at Fort Mason is a gently sloping meadow with breathtaking views and great sound and sightlines. It's hard to beat if the fog doesn't roll in too early.

Shows are from 11:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tickets — $12.50 advance, $15 at the door, $20 for a special two-day ticket — can be obtained at all the usual places (does BASS sound familiar?). Charge by phone at 1-998-BASS. Free parking — with shuttle buses running to and from the site — is at Crissy Field, definitely the way to go in parking crazed San Francisco. Harrah's, which started booking blues acts with a good measure of success, again sponsors the event, for the fourth consecutive year. For information call (415) 826-6837.

HOT TICKETS:

• Local modern rockers Lovers & Strangers, after having a hell of a time, finally found a new bass player, Jimmy Kleinman of Philly, says guitarist Steve Sippel. That accomplished, the band's starting to pick up more gigs, the latest being an all-ages show from 9 to midnight Saturday, Sept. 9 at the Carmel Youth Center.

Upcoming gigs include Doc Rickett's on Cannery Row Sept. 24, SF's Paradise Lounge Sept. 25, The Club of Monterey Sept. 28, and all three days of the Monterey Pop Music Festival, Sept. 29 through Oct. 1 at the Monterey Fairgrounds. They're also getting some feelers from recording types from L.A. Is this an instance of "see-them-now-before-they-get-famous?" Time will tell.

• Don't say I didn't warn you: Austin, Texas blues blasters The Fabulous Thunderbirds headline The Catalyst in Santa Cruz Saturday, Sept. 23. If you're a fan of this great live band or are a fan of blistering Texas blues, you should probably drop everything and run down to the nearest ticket outlet, because this one is sure to be a sell-out. If you're not a fan...shame on you.

• Also upcoming at the Big Cat, recently dubbed the Best Club in Northern California by San Jose Mercury News: Chris Isaak, Sept. 15; Pride and Joy, Sept. 16; Red Hot Chili Peppers, Sept. 17; Paladins and Little Charlie and the Nightcats, Sept. 22; Mojo Nix and Skid Roper Sept. 29; and the Average White Band (remember Pick Up the Pieces?) Sept. 30. Info's at 423-1336; tickets at — where else? — BASS.

• The acts just keep on coming at that ambitious undertaking, the Monterey Pop Music Festival, slated for Sept. 29, 30 and Oct. 1. Acts mentioned so far have included Chicago, Jerry Lee Lewis, Chick Corea, Jeff Healey Band, Billy Preston, David and Linda LaFlamme (It's a Beautiful Day), Canned Heat, War, Kenny Rankin, Dwight Twilley, Parthenon Huxley, Sam Moore (of Sam & Dave fame), David Benoit, Jennifer Warnes, Tim Weisberg, etc., but apparently a revamped lineup will be announced next week in Los Angeles by new producers of the festival, Monarch Entertainment Group out of PG.

Controversial comedian Sam Kinison is scheduled to emcee one show and rumors are rampant about the appearances of some major acts during the three-day event at the Monterey Fairgrounds. Tickets are at BASS; info's at 373-4POP. By the way POP stands for Protect Our Planet, and it's a fund-raiser for ecological programs subtitled "An Ecological Experience." Stay tuned.

• Sex, lies and videotape..., now playing at the State III Cinemas in Monterey is one of the best of the year so far, a witty, honest and perceptive film about relationships, how we manage to screw them up, then try to put them back together again. A gem by first-time director Steven Soderbergh.

• UNTV continues at the Club of Monterey every Sunday at 9 p.m. It's a first for the peninsula, a kind of cross between Candid Camera, David Letterman and your standard stand-up comedy show. Chicago Steve hosts and does a lot of other crazy, wacky, zany things. Now getoutahere.

Variety distinguishes Carmel Play Festival at Outdoor Forest Theater

By ANNE PAPINEAU

HAD FOREST Theater founder Herbert Heron lived to be 106, he might approve the classically themed offerings of the Carmel Play Festival.

The festival will be launched with a Grecian "romp" on Saturday, Sept. 9 at the Forest Theater which Heron started in 1910. Opening Friday, Sept. 15 is an original interpretation of Aristophanes' comedy/farce, Lysistrata, adapted by peninsular John Rousseau. The kaleidoscopic offerings continue until Oct. 8, and will include days and nights of poetry, music, a roving clown troupe and even The Pied Piper of Hamelin. All are set at the historic theater, located on Mountain View at Santa Rita in Carmel-by-the-Sea.

This, the second Carmel Play Festival, is produced under the aegis of GroveMont Outreach, The Poetic Drama Institute and Monterey Peninsula College.

"We change our focus for the Forest Theater," explained Stephen Moorer, GroveMont founder and executive director. "We have done shows all summer as fund-raisers. Now we can let Carmel develop its own identity as a legitimate arts festival."

JOHN ROUSSEAU adapted and directs the Carmel Play Festival staging of Lysistrata.

GROVEMONT Theater founder and executive director Stephen Moorer oversees the Carmel Play Festival.

JULIE HUGGETT takes the title role in Lysistrata. Aristophanes' timeless (circa 411 B.C.) anti-war comedy opens Friday, Sept. 15 at the Outdoor Forest Theater. Discount previews are set Tuesday through Thursday, Sept. 12-14. For ticket information, call 649-0340 or 649-5561.

JACK MACK (left) portrays a doubting mayor and Denise Coates is the piper in the Carmel Play Festival staging of The Pied

Piper of Hamelin. Lady Hull directs this family production, which plays Saturdays and Sundays at 5 p.m. starting Sept. 17.

Moorer, a graduate of Carmel High School and a veteran of nearly 100 Forest Theater productions, says that he would like the city-owned facility to return to its intended purpose as described by Heron in a 1916 Forest Theater Society brochure.

"The aims, ambitions, hopes of the (Forest Theater) Society are that we may find and point world-wide a play — say many plays — worthy of general knowledge; that we may discover a star-dream and help give it to the lovers of dreams of genius; that we may be the link between unrecognized inspiration and the rewarding public."

The GroveMont Theater, headquartered in New Monterey, reserves its theater arts center as the venue for contemporary plays. Cabaret theater offerings, most recently Agatha Christie's The Mousetrap, have been staged at GroveMont for the summer months. The company also produces an admission-free Monterey Bay TheatreFest in the summer as well as a commercially oriented musical in a tent erected at Monterey's Custom House Plaza.

"We have several venues around the Monterey Peninsula to perform in. At the Forest Theater it seems like you're fighting your setting if you do a drawing room drama or modern works. The Forest Theater, with its pine trees and firepits, seems like the ideal setting for classical plays. We want the Carmel Play Festival to turn into the next artistic jewel of Carmel," he explained.

Moorer again referred to Herbert Heron's 1916 outline as a guide to the new Carmel Play Festival.

Heron's Forest Theater offerings emphasized original works by local writers, classics and children's theater. Thus the new revival of Lysistrata and Pied Piper.

"Classics are not traditionally successful. At any theater they're a hard sell," Moorer noted. "It's unfortunate, I'd say. People cut themselves off when they will go only to Neil Simon or Rodgers and Hammerstein, a Broadway hit. People hear 'Greek classic' and they run screaming."

Nonetheless, the festival will open with a comedy that has stood the test of time. Lysistrata, penned in 411 B.C., tells of how the women of Greece deny the men all favors — sexual and otherwise — until the men stop fighting their "ridiculous" wars. The cast includes Julie Huggett as Lysistrata, as well as Jeff Heyer, Dorian Ellis, Ron Cohen, Mindy Stock, Jeff Hudelson, Mickie Braun, John Stanley, Sue Fishkoff, Chris Heimer, Maria Ivy Cates and others.

Lysistrata will have open rehearsals on Sunday and Monday, Sept. 10-11, at the Forest Theater. Previews are set at 8 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday, Sept. 12-14. Preview admission is $5. The play formally opens at 8 p.m. Friday, Sept. 15, to be preceded by entertainment at 7 p.m.

"An evening of fun and frolic" is how GroveMont press releases describe "A Greek Fol-de-Rol, or 'It's Greek to Me.'" This kick-off for the Carmel Play Festival begins at 6 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 9, also at the Forest Theater. The evening will include a Greek-themed dinner, dancing, entertainment and silent auction. Admission is $25 per person or $45 per couple, with all proceeds benefitting the Carmel Play Festival.

"We feel that at the Forest Theater the rent is low enough, and we receive partial support from the Carmel Community and Cultural Commission, so we don't have to concentrate on box office," Moorer asserted. "All we want to do is break even. We can keep our prices low."

Admission for Lysistrata will be $8 general, $6 for senior citizens and students, $4 for children and $20 per family.

Opening Saturday, Sept. 16 will be the Carmel Play Festival's family theater presentation, The Pied Piper of Hamelin. Children and adults drawn from the community will appear in this classic work, directed by Lady Hull. Ticket prices range from $3 to $5. Before each performance of The Pied Piper of Hamelin, the GroveMont Clown Troupe will take the stage and entertain playgoers with jokes, pratfalls and clown routines.

Adding further to the diversity of the festival will be a free Sunday Afternoon Music and Poetry Concert Series. This free weekly series will feature poet/folksinger Ric Masten, poet Taelen Thomas, the Squeeze-hogs Bluegrass Band, an Irish jam session and folksinger Alisa Fineman.

"We would like to pull away from commercially oriented production and return to the concepts of the founders of the Forest Theater," added Moorer.

Decades of Sam Colburn's artistry featured

"THE FAMILY Choice," an exhibition spanning 40 years in the varied career of Sam Colburn, will open Saturday, Sept. 9 at the Cherry Foundation Gallery.

Curated by Noel Mapstead, the exhibit includes Colburn family favorites in an array of styles and themes from as early as 1948.

"Artist, teacher, character, local legend" — all these labels have been applied, with justification, to Sam Colburn.

ARTS & LEISURE

His rich career has included acceptance in the Carmel Art Association in 1940; a group showing in the Contemporary Arts Gallery in New York City as well as a one-man show there; solo exhibits in venues as improbable as Elko, Nevada; exhibits in Tucson, Arizona and Santa Barbara; teaching as an adjunct instructor through the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art and the New Neighborhood Center in Monterey; and dozens of exhibits in watercolor and other mediums.

Just last year, Colburn was asked to submit work for the prestigious "Regionalism: The California View" exhibit at the Santa Barbara Museum of Art.

Currently, his work is on display at the

CARMEL BACH FESTIVAL

The spirit of the Festival

By ISABEL CROSSEN
President, Bach Festival Associates

AS THE 1989 Carmel Bach Festival concluded on the 6th of August with an extraordinary performance of Bach's Mass in B Minor, did the audience imagine that nothing further would be heard of the Festival until its return in the summer of 1990? That indeed used to be the case until the advent, five years ago, of the Carmel Bach Festival Associates. This group was formed in 1984 in order to sustain the spirit of the Festival in the community throughout the year. So even before that final concert in August, the Associates, high on the wave of enthusiasm and the fulfillment of another glorious Festival, were already planning their forthcoming season of events for the next nine months.

The Associates undertake their commitment with the devotion that the Festival merits. While striving to uphold its traditions of musical excellence, dramatic creativity, warmth and hospitality, their goal is to build a broad membership base whose talents, resources and involvement will further ensure the viability and longevity of the Festival.

One joins the Associates because one wants to make friends and one wants to be around music and musical people, people who love their Festival and their community. After all, this Carmel Bach Festival is a rare event whose very name is synonymous with its community. To be an Associate is to identify oneself as a "Friend of the Festival" on a year-round basis, a friend whose very involvement helps to create an event outstanding, not only in its musical accomplishments, but in the quality of culture and sense of history with which it enhances this community.

Each year the Festival, in bringing here performers and participants from all over the world and from throughout this United States, brings for three whole weeks a new vitality to this community; in fact 55 percent of the Festival audience is from out-of-town. And whether or not one has a predilection for Baroque music, the Festival offers the volunteer an opportunity to participate in a production, unique on this peninsula for its variety and scope, in theater as well as music. This year, even dance has been represented as well as, for the first time, a fully staged opera. And who, in this community, has not been intensely moved by a visit to the Carmel Mission Basilica, let alone on the night off the Mission concert with its history and pageantry? The mission itself, a unique heritage, is enhanced by the music and pageantry of its period. This Festival concert is impossible to duplicate anywhere except in this community!

With these thoughts in mind, the Carmel Bach Festival Associates take pride in the volunteer efforts which they have chosen to contribute both during and in between Festivals. As individuals, the Associates' volunteer participation during the Festival has ranged from backstage set designing to office work, housing and chauffeuring performers, arranging and contributing social events, coordinating the lectures and recitals, baking, in summary, probably most aspects involved in the production of such a Festival. It is tremendously gratifying to be thus integrated, to play an active part in the "behind-the-scenes" labor of producing such an impressive event.

As a group, the Associates each year have the privilege of sponsoring the very first of all the happy events surrounding the Festival, namely, a Bach's Lunch for members of the orchestra, following a dress rehearsal to which the Associates are cordially invited by the Maestro as a special honor.

And now, what of the off-season activities referred to in the opening chapter? After sharing together the mutual endeavor culminating in this remarkably successful 52nd Festival, the Associates delight in reuniting with the Maestro Sandor Salgo and his wife Priscilla, and with each other! Thus, on the 24th of September, the Associates will be "Bach in the Saddle" again at their annual meeting and barbecue supper at the historic Holman Ranch in Carmel Valley.

As in the past, the Associates also plan to host a series of other events which help to maintain a year-round presence of the Festival; a Christmas celebration with music; the Festival Preview presented by the Maestro and the Festival Board in the springtime; a huge "thank you" party to the Festival volunteers co-hosted by the Festival Board; a backstage workshop and a fund-raising recreational event. All of the potential plans are to be announced in the Associates' quarterly newsletter which is circulated to all members and interested friends.

It is well to remember that the Carmel Bach Festival belongs to this community, and the Associates are the group who have fun in the process of supporting it! As Robin Venuti, Development Director of the Festival says, "While the volunteer effort has always been an essential part of the Festival's success, a volunteer who is also an Associate feels as if he, or she, is part of the inner workings of the Festival, even more a part of the Festival family and this community."

For information about the party on Sept. 24, call the Bach Office at 624-1521.

Ellen Bass speaks of sexual abuse recovery

Model Mugging of Monterey, a self-defense and empowerment program, announces the kick-off of its 1989-90 continuing education lecture series titled "Living With Empowerment." In an appearance benefiting the MMOM scholarship fund, Ellen Bass will speak on the process of healing from child sexual abuse, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Thursday, on Sept. 14 at the Monterey Conference Center, 1 Portola Plaza, Monterey.

Ellen Bass is the co-author of the best-selling The Courage To Heal, A Guide for Women Survivors of Child Sexual Abuse, a resource on healing for survivors and helping professionals. She is the co-editor of I Never Told Anyone: Writings by Women Survivors of Child Sexual Abuse. She is a pioneer in the field of working with adult survivors. There will be an opportunity for questions and answers. This presentation is her exclusive Northern California appearance and is open to the public.

Advance ticket sales are $10, and $12 at the door, subject to availability. All proceeds go to the MMOM scholarship fund. Tickets are available at all BASS/TICKETMASTER ticket centers, or charge by phone, 998-BASS.

For further information, call 646-5425.

Carmel Play Festival

The Carmel Play Festival, a 30-day celebration of theater, poetry and music, will open with a gala celebration Saturday, Sept. 9 at Carmel's Outdoor Forest Theater.

"A Greek Fol-De-Rol, or, It's Greek to Me!" will herald the start of the festival with dinner, dancing, entertainment and a silent auction.

The gala begins at 6 p.m. Tickets are $25 to $45 per person, with all proceeds benefitting the festival.

GroveMont Theater Outreach will stage the festival's major play, an original adaptation of Aristophanes' classic comedy/farce, Lysistrata. First presented in 411 B.C., Aristophanes' play tells of how the women of Greece deny men all favors — sexual and otherwise — until the men stop fighting their "ridiculous" wars. Lysistrata opens Friday, Sept. 15. Open rehearsals are set Sunday and Monday, Sept. 10-11, and discount previews are scheduled Tuesday through Thursday, Sept. 12-14.

The Carmel Play Festival is a multi-faceted event. Also opening mid-month will be a family theater presentation of The Pied Piper of Hamelin and a free Sunday afternoon Music and Poetry Concert Series.

Charter memberships in the festival's fundraising and volunteer support group, the Forest Theater Society, are available for $25 and include a newsletter subscription, permanent program listing, lifetime two-for-one discounts, annual members' party and other members-only events. Charter memberships will be available through Oct. 8. Regular memberships, available all year, are $15, and include the newsletter, annual program listing, $1-off ticket discounts, annual members' party and limited other members-only events.

For memberships, reservations or advance tickets to any Carmel Play Festival event, call GroveMont Theater Outreach at 649-0340 or Center Stage Ticketing at 649-5561.

Enjoyable outing

Hackl (Carl Palme). The musical closes Sunday, Sept. 10 in the Monterey Peninsula College Theater.

The Mousetrap

A group of strangers is stranded in a boarding house during a snowstorm — among them is a murderer. Thus the stage is set for Agatha Christie's classic whodunnit, The Mousetrap.

GroveMont Theater completes its summer cabaret season with this classic mystery.

Jim Webber directs the play, presented in the GroveMont Theater Arts Center, 320 Hoffman (at Lighthouse) in New Monterey. The cast includes Kevin Caston, James Brady, Jerry Gill, Sandy Sidener, Jack Whittaker, Gina Ferrari, Michael Weiss and Shirley Fischer.

The Mousetrap continues at 8 p.m. Thursdays through Saturdays and 7 p.m. Sundays until Oct. 7. Table seating is available at all performances on a first-come, first-served basis. A menu of sandwiches, soft drinks, beer and wine is offered.

Tickets on Thursdays and Sundays are $8.50 general and $7 for students, seniors and military. Tickets on Fridays and Saturdays are $9.50 general and $8 for students, seniors and military.

For advance tickets, call Center Stage Ticketing, 649-5561. For individual reservations, call GroveMont at 649-6852.

Hello, Dolly!

The glittering 1890s are the setting for Hello, Dolly! The musical, based on Thornton Wilder's The Matchmaker, is presented on the main stage at Monterey Peninsula College.

Constance Gamiere has designed more than 150 costumes and San Francisco Bay Area designer Dennis Howes has created one of the most intricate sets seen in an MPC production. The front row of theater seats has been removed to accommodate a four-column proscenium with box seats and runway.

Sandy Williams brings to life the matchmaker, Dolly Levi, who schemes to marry the wealthy Yonkers merchant, Horace Vandergelder, played by Michael Robbins.

Curtain is at 8 p.m. Thursdays through Saturdays and at 2 p.m. Sundays until Sept. 10. A 7 p.m. performance will also be offered Sunday, Sept. 10. Hello, Dolly! is produced on the MPC Main Stage, 980 Fremont St., Monterey. Because parking is very limited during the first two weeks of school, there will be no performance Thursday, Sept. 7.

Tickets are $12 general admission; $9 for students, military and senior citizens 60 and older; $6 for children under 13. Reservations may be made by calling the MPC box office, 646-4213 between 4 and 7:30 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday, or Center Stage Ticketing, 649-5561; between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

Stop the World, I Want to Get Off

Gina Welch-Hagen directs Anthony Newley's allegorical tale that has much to say about man's drive for fame and power and the disillusionment that sets in once these goals are attained.

T HEATER REVIEW

By Joe Guzaitis

Adrenalin abuse

IT NEVER CEASES to amaze me what an enormous industry (books, plays, theater, film) is dedicated to the genre of the murder mystery. Calculating the demise of our enemies is a form of substance abuse, after all, manipulating our adrenalin to provide us with thrills. It's also curious that dinner theater is one of the more popular forums for this type of activity.

Maybe it's just me, since The Mousetrap, by Dame Agatha Christie, which opened last week at the GroveMont Theater Arts Center, has the distinction of being the longest running play of its kind in the English language. At one time, Dame Agatha had three plays running simultaneously in London's West End.

Dama Agatha Clarissa Mary Christie Mallowan intended to have a musical career but because of extreme shyness abandoned it and began writing. She had published six books when, in 1926, she disappeared for 11 days (a' la Mary Baker Eddy) to be found in a Harrogate hotel. She divorced Archibald Christie the next year and married Sir Max Mallowan, an archaeologist. She continued to write under her first husband's name except for six novels published under the name Mary Westmacott.

Originally a play for radio, The Mousetrap was adopted by Ms. Christie for the theater and there found its niche. It is set in a country guest house called Monkswell Manor, Mollie and Giles Ralston, the new owners have just begun taking in tenants and hope to make a go of it. They have attracted a motley crew in their first week of operation, when a snowstorm isolates the group from the world and intensifies the aggravation that all feel. There's obnoxious Mrs. Boyle who can't be pleased. There's Christopher Wren, a young foppish architect with a famous name. There's Major Metcalf, a stiff-upper-lip retired officer and Miss Caswell, an icy young cosmopolitan woman. Add to this group, a suspect Italian named Paravicini whose Rolls is in a snowbank and who seeks sanctuary. The final twist in casting is Sergeant Trotter who arrives to reveal to the assembled group that a murderer is suspected to be among them. They are snowbound, the heat is failing and the phone lines are cut. (I'm surprised that characters in mysteries can't splice phone wires, a relatively simple job. But, no matter.) In the course of the evening and the next day, the interrogation continues and red herrings are dangled until the startling conclusion. That's all I'll tell. Sandy Sidener is the star of the show as Mollie Ralston. Her confidence and presence (and accent) made her a delight to watch as the bustling B & B lady tending to her guests. Later, she undergoes adversity and comes up triumphant. Jerry Gill plays her affectionate but smoldering husband. Shirley Fischer plays the cranky Mrs. Boyle so well, you can feel the tension in the pit of your stomach. Similarly with the icy Ms. Caswell — Gina Ferrari gave the role a steely rendering that causes our bodies' defense mechanisms to react.

On the opposite side, James Brady made the architect Christopher Wren so flamboyant that his claque in the audience went overboard in their exaggerated response. This distracted attention from his performance, which was good. Mr. Paravicini, the Italian of dubious occupation, was played with great oleaginous quality by Michael Weiss. Jack Whittaker gave us a fresh reading of the "retired brigadier" character, of which there are many stereotypes to be avoided. The role of Sergeant Trotter is a troublesome one, seemingly overplayed but ultimately understandable. Kevin Caston is well suited for the part and demonstrates why the UK needs Miranda laws.

Jim Webber's direction keeps things moving and his small touches, like the visible signs of affection between the Ralstons, made the milieu more believable. The sets, costumes and lighting were all orchestrated to present a cozy cottage within which dreadful secrets would be learned. If British mystery is your cup of tea, you'll like this piece of intrigue.

JAZZ TIDES

By John Detro

Keep in touch

ESPECIALLY OVER the past few years, out-of-arena programming has become a powerful part of Monterey Jazz Festival. The 32nd annual edition (9/15-16-17 at the fairgrounds) again will bring forth Garden Stage and Night Club acts of real worth.

Grounds Admission tickets cover these venues as well as access to food and arts/crafts booths along the concourse. Costs: $15 per for Friday and Sunday — $20 Saturday. Center Stage Agency. Or at the box office from Wednesday (9/13) and on through the fest.

Before naming all the talent, I must note that Billy Eckstine was forced by private matters to cancel his Sunday night appearance on the main stage. MJF chief Jimmy Lyons was asked whether another vocalist would be sought. He: "We're looking at different options. Keep in touch." Okay. Now then—

Friday evening Garden Stage (6:00 start) — Tambo (Latin band from Santa Cruz) and the MJF House Quartet (Tee Carson, Bruce Forman, Vince Lateano, Larry Grenadier, plus guest vocalist Madeline Eastman).

Friday evening Night Club (8:00) — Marcos Silva Band, Tambo, guitarist Joyce Cooling and Viva Brazil, Batucaje troupe of Brazilian dancers and fine musicians.

Saturday afternoon Garden Stage (12:15) — Acoustic blues jam with Charlie Musselwhite, Ron Thompson, Mark Naftalin. Musselwhite Band, Bobby Reed Band with vocalist Sarah Livingston (she was the smash hit at this year's Monterey Bay Blues Festival), Naftalin's R&B Revue with Jimmy McCracklin and others, Maurice McKinnies and the Electrifying Galaxy Blues Band, Rockin' Sidney plus Al Ripon and Zydeco Express, Little Milton Revue, Uplands band called Polyhedra (their audition tape impressed Jimmy).

Saturday evening Night Club (8:00) — Jackie Coon Quartet, vocalist Kitty Margolis with superb pianist Dick Hindman, Eiji Kitamura Quintet, Mad Romance (East Coast vocal unit), Polyhedra.

Sunday morn Garden Stage (11:00) — Santa Barbara's Dos Pueblos High School Band (youth competition runner-up), Dave Valdez Quartet, Kitty and Dick, John Cortes Quartet working with vocalist Scotty Wright, Navy Show Band West out of Treasure Island, Swing Twilight Band from Japan, Vaudeville Nouveau (jazz jugglers).

Sunday evening Night Club (8:00) — Dave Valdez Quartet, singer Margie Baker and trio, John Cortes group with Scotty Wright, Vaudeville Nouveau (jazz jugglers).

Meanwhile, fest executive secretary Jan Plunkett said last week "a few arena tickets" still were available. Since these go quickly, an advance call to her or the box office would be wise. Next week: final rundown on main stage performers.

KUSP Radio (88.9FM) once more slates live coverage of all arena sets. Including interviews and color commentary by the public-supported outlet's jazz staff.

AS IF IT WERE planned: KUSP jazz programmer Pete Fallico will serve as master of ceremonies Saturday night (9/9) throughout the sixth annual Monterey Peninsula Jazz/Art Show at Seaside's Oldemeyer Center. That event's dedicated to Bird Parker. Says Pete: "Anyone even remotely interested in jazz pays tribute in his direction. It's an opportunity for me to learn more about the music that I love."

Specific area residents who knew Bird have been invited to say brief somethings about the genius gentleman. The Gary Giddins video on Charlie Parker will be set up for optional viewing during the social hour — between seven and eight o'clock. Also available: food, wine, much jazz-based art in its own space.

The live talent looks good. Scotty Wright will work with ex-Basie pianist Tee Carson, flutist Kenny Stahl, Jim LePine on drums, bassist Stan Poplin. Scotty recently sang the national anthem before the Rams-Cards pro football tilt at Anaheim Stadium; he'll star as Bojangles Robinson in that feature film about the great entertainer; Manhattan and London jazz club dates come next month.

Piano-playing lawmaker Henry Mello will front a trio. And the Youth Jazz Ensemble will show why its members — drummer Darrin Thomas, Ed Mendenhall (piano), Jason Silzle (alto sax), Nat Sherman (bass) — all have won MJF High School All-Stars honors. Ed and Jason hold down first-string chairs in this year's band that'll play with Dizzy Gillespie on the arena Sunday afternoon (9/17).

Jazz/Art tickets cost $10 apiece and will be available at the door. Proceeds help the scholarship fund for teen students of music, visual art, theater. Principal Jonathan Beene of Monterey Peninsula Unified District's Opportunity School says an anonymous purchaser provided some student admissions — not a bad idea if you know young folks who'd benefit from this jazz turnon. Show info: 899-6270.

Community Services Director Lewis Jackson and his volunteer committee have put together a bright evening. Right on.

MONTEREY BAY Club booker Teri Waros now makes known the complete schedule for her room's Jazz Festival Week. (Talent had been arranged but not specific dates.)

Here: Madeline Eastman and backup trio of Dick Hindman, Vince Lateano, Seward McCain (9/11) — Jackie Coon Quintet (9/12) — John Cortes group and Scotty Wright (9/13) — extraordinary alto saxist Lanny Morgan with Smith Dobson (9/14) — Spang-a-lang (9/15) — Chris Cain (9/16). Each of these evenings carries a cover charge — $3 per.

Other nights there: Higher Feelings (9/7), Spang-a-lang (9/8-9), Bob Phillips and Terry Miller (9/10, 9/17).

STRONG SUGGESTION. Save Monday night (9/11) for a trip to Santa Cruz if you possibly can. Kuumbwa Jazz Center offers the rightly celebrated Brazilian pianist and composer Eliane Elias plus support players. It's $11 per; eight o'clock kick; Center Stage Ticketing.

From Sao Paulo, she hit New York just eight years ago. Today the Blue Note label issues her albums regularly and with the media budget they deserve. The latest such package — So Far So Close — features some Brazil-inspired originals and the Brecker brothers. (Eliane's married with Randy Brecker and they've a daughter: Amanda.)

It's best to enter her world free of preconception. At age 12, after all, she was transcribing and playing solos by Art Tatum, Bud Powell, Bill Evans, Wynton Kelly. Also a singer and arranger, Eliane was named jazz soloist of the year (1988) by

YOUNG ENERGY — Jason Silzle of Pacific Grove will play at Monterey Peninsula Jazz/Art Show and with this year's Monterey Jazz Festival High School All-Stars. See column. (Will Wallace photo.)

Leonard Feather. Herbie Hancock: "She plays so beautifully that it brought tears to my eyes."

Monterey Peninsula flutist Kenny Stahl announced (via his recent gig at Kuumbwa) that he desires bigger challenges. New manager Tup Lohse put him in there with a superlative rhythm section — pianist John Donaldson, drummer Eddie Marshall, Jeff Chambers on bass. Stahl responded with joy of performance and tough chops, showcasing such "favorite composers" as Tadd Dameron, Chick Corea, Scotty Wright, Monk, Fats Waller, Coltrane.

(Note: Any peninsula's almost an island. Musicians play together again and again. Without special dedication, geographical and economic truths can work against growth. When jazz folk get too comfy, the chances not taken warp outlooks. Kenny should be noticed, then, simply for busting out.)

That word again: preconception. Kenny seemed to know, upfront, exactly what he would do with each tune. Some delicious ideas proffered by his colleagues weren't pursued. Creative listening comes from recognition of this fact: leadership's titular when one's backed by monsters like that. With the wise old quarterback, the wise bandleader takes everything he can get.

One last word. Kuumbwa honcho Tim Jackson's also a very good reedman. He's part of Tambo, playing Monterey Jazz Festival for the first time.

Free preview offered of jazz festival

Jazz fans are invited to a sneak preview of the 32nd annual Monterey Jazz Festival at a free outdoor concert, set noon to 1 p.m. Friday, Sept. 8 on the lawn outside Colton Hall.

The program marks the first time in the Festival's history that the Monterey Jazz Festival presented by MCI has been "officially" embraced by its host city. Monterey Mayor Dan Albert will honor the festival by issuing a special proclamation declaring "Jazz Festival Week" in Monterey. Ted Trimmer, president of MCI's Pacific Division, will join the celebration and present a $25,000 check to the Jazz Festival Scholarship Fund.

Festival founder Jimmy Lyons, the B Natural Trio and surprise guests are included in the event lineup.

Community band seeks musicians

Monterey Peninsula College is the site of a new community musical group that meets Thursday evenings. The Peninsula Community Band will be conducted by John Anderson, a new faculty member, and will be open to anyone with experience on a band instrument.

Anyone interested in joining the Peninsula Community Band should attend the first session at 7 p.m., Thursday, Aug. 31, in the MPC Music Hall. Instruments are available.

According to Anderson, the new group will offer community musicians the opportunity to perform a challenging variety of music to the best of their abilities, and still enjoy the excitement, fun and social contacts that a community band traditionally offers.

"Auditions will eventually be held for the purpose of placement within the group, but definitely not to exclude anyone," he explained.

Anderson joins the MPC faculty after nationwide experiences as a band director, guest conductor and clinician, and most recently, as director of bands at Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo. Prior to his appointment at Cal Poly, he held similar positions at Indiana State University and Transylvania University in Lexington, Kentucky. He previously served as assistant conductor for Colorado's Breckenridge Music Institute for seven seasons.

For more information about the Peninsula Community Band, call 646-4200.

Colburn art

Carmel Art Association and through the Collectors Gallery at the Oakland Museum.

Born in 1909 in Denver, Colorado where he "chased tumbleweeds on the prairie, went to school and saw Buffalo Bill in his casket," Colburn moved to Los Angeles in 1918 and graduated from the University of Southern California in 1932 with a degree in geology.

After a trip to Europe, which he spent touring and visiting galleries, Colburn returned to Los Angeles and started life classes at the Chouinard School of Art and later in Long Beach. In 1937, he came to Carmel after selling his interest in an aircraft distributorship and took watercolor classes from Paul Whitman and was accepted in the Carmel Art Association where he is now an honorary life member.

Since then, Colburn has versed himself in an array of mediums.

In his drawings, Colburn has never expressed an interest in literal representations; using instead impressionistic techniques to capture his animals and caddies and golfers. His portrait in charcoal of the poet, Robinson Jeffers, is on the cover of Jeffers' Selected Poems.

A reception for the artist will be held Saturday, Sept. 9 from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Cherry Foundation, Fourth and Guadalupe, Carmel.

The gallery hours are from 11 to 4 p.m., Monday through Saturday. The Cherry Foundation will be closed Saturday, Sept. 16. "The Family Choice" can be seen through Sept. 30.

For more information, call 624-7491.

FLOATING MINER is the title of a 1954 watercolor by Sam Colburn. A collection of his paintings spanning several decades can be viewed at the Cherry Foundation Gallery, in an exhibit titled "The Family Choice." A reception for the artist is set 7 to 9 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 9 at Cherry Hall, Guadalupe and Fourth, Carmel. For details, call 624-7491. The show continues through September.

Process-oriented sessions organized by Friends of Jung

A SERIES of Process-oriented (Dreambody) work sessions will begin at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 13 at 899 Drake Ave., Monterey. The program is sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Friends of C.G. Jung.

Announcement of the event stresses that "In Processwork, you as client are the message! The goal: finding and living out your own wholeness. No judgments are made and there is no pathologizing of either symptoms or behavior. You'll learn how to work on yourself alone, and speed your journey in becoming your own therapist."

Co-leaders of the activity are Kathy Ziegler, Ph.D. and Joseph Pagano. Both are founding members of the Research Society for Process-oriented Psychology—The Americas, and therapists in private practice; the former in Santa Cruz, the latter locally.

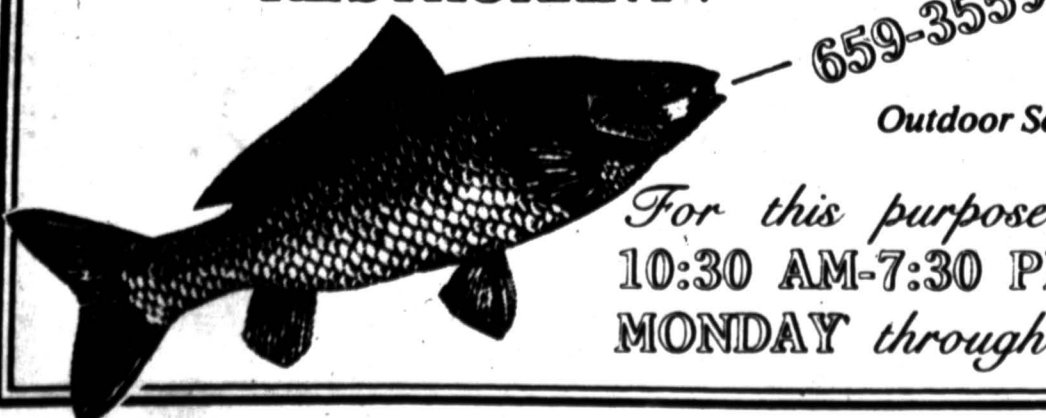

Attendance will be limited to 12 participants, and early registration is suggested. A commitment to six sessions is also suggested, and partial scholarships are available from the $25 registration fee per session.

The Friends of C.G. Jung is an informal group of people who are finding that, by sharing their enthusiasm for the physician's ideas, they can find practical applications of those ideas in their everyday lives. This is especially so in Processwork, which was developed by Jungian Analyst Arnold Mindell during the past 10 years.

For further information, call or write: 649-8809; 899 Drake Ave., Monterey.

Museum spotlights Hirado porcelain from Japan

ART ASIA Museum will present a gathering of "Hirado — Japan's Most Beautiful Porcelain," from Sept. 11 through Nov. 10. The collection can be viewed at Marsh's Oriental Shop, 599 Fremont St., Monterey. Hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily.

Hirado porcelain is known for the purity of its whiteness. Because it is so rare, there have been few exhibits devoted exclusively to it, the most recent being one held in London in 1981. The Art Asia Museum exhibit consists of over 50 pieces from the private collections of C. Philip Cardeiro of Pebble Beach, John Gruber of New York, Charlotte Horstman, formerly of Hong Kong, Edward Behme of Laguna Hills, Marsha Vargas of Los Altos and Suzanne Lipman of Monterey.

PRODUCED circa 1800, this double gourd ewer features a spout formed by a dragon's head and neck and the handle by his tail. The cover and finial are molded as a 16-petal chrysanthemum, suggesting it was intended as an imperial gift. (Pete Goode photo).

The Hirado kilns were established in the Muromachi period (1596-1614) by Korean potters, Sannojo and his son Jo-en, who followed the Prince of Hirado back to Japan and set up kilns under his patronage and produced blue and white faience made from local materials. During the Shotoku period (1711-1715) the discovery of materials from Amakusa which, mixed with the local clays, made porcelain of rare purity, insured the success of the kilns.

After this the kilns were moved to Mikawachi under the patronage of the Prince of Matsuura who had articles made exclusively for his own use or to use as gifts for the Shogun at Edo or for his daimyo friends. In 1830 the Matsuura clan set up a trade monopoly in Hirado ware, and it was about this time that eggshell porcelain for European coffee sets first appeared in quantity; however, the Matsuura clan suspended their patronage of the kilns in 1843. The kilns produced some wares decorated in red and green enamels and began producing for the general industrial market under the private enterprise system introduced by the Meiji Restoration.

The porcelain takes many forms. Its pure white quality made it particularly suitable for delicate blue and white designs, the blue partly seeping into the porcelain to make a soft, somewhat shaded design. Some pure white pieces exist, delicately molded and decorated with slip. The structural integrity of the clay allowed it to be pierced, holding the sharp edges through the firing.

Marsh's Oriental Shop houses the G. T. Marsh collection in a distinctly oriental building designed by Oran Jenkins of Mill Valley and built in 1927 by George Turner

Marsh (1857-1932) for his only daughter. The present owner is a great-grandson of the founder. The building features both Chinese and Japanese gardens in walled outdoor settings as well as several distinct showrooms. The Hirado exhibit will be displayed in the Japanese rooms of the building.

Kirkin o' the Tartan ceremony recreated Sunday in Monterey

THE SCOTTISH Society of the Monterey Peninsula presents its stirring religious service, the Kirkin' o' the Tartan, at 3 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 10. The service will take place at the First Presbyterian Church, 501 Eldorado St., Monterey.

The ecumenical service concludes with the presentation of clan and family tartans at the altar to be blessed. There will be hymns sung by Mary Margaret Graham of Carmel, accompanied by Myron McTavish of Salinas at the organ. The 1st Salinas Valley Highlanders Pipe Band will participate, with Paul Hodgins of Carmel Valley as bagpipe soloist.

Jason Bond of Carmel, a Society Governor, will call the roll of the clans and the tartans will be blessed by the Rev. William A. Boyd, Chaplain of the Hospice of the Monterey Peninsula.

Clergy joining in the colorful service will be The Rev. Jay Bartow, pastor of First Presbyterian; The Rev. Allan R. Wolter of St. John's Chapel, Monterey; Fr. Scott McCarthy of Our Lady of Refuge Catholic Church in Castroville; The Rev. Eric Jackson, a retired minister; Fr. Matthew Drury of the Presidio of Monterey; The Rev. Carl Hansen of All Saints Episcopal Church, Carmel; and Fr. Dwight Edwards of St. Mary's-by-the-Sea Episcopal Church, Pacific Grove.

L. Dan Wallis of Pebble Beach is president of the Scottish Society. He, officers and governors of the Society, in Scottish attire, will march in the procession up the sanctuary aisle, accompanied by pipers and drummers of the Highlanders band.

Chairman of the event is William R. Cameron of Carmel.

Poetry Shell magazine seeks submissions

October 13 is the deadline for poems submitted in the annual contest sponsored by the "Poetry Shell," non-profit booklet of verse for area residents.

Adult serious verse prizes are $25, $20 and $15. Light verse prizes are $20, $15 and $10. Teen-age category winners will receive $25, $20 and $15. Juvenile (12 and under) poets will vie for prizes of $20, $15 and $10 for first, second and third respectively.

Each contestant may submit no more than three unpublished poems in each category, with a limit of 25 lines each. Submissions should be typed on standard typing paper, one poem per page, double spaced.

Poems should not include name or contestant to insure adult anonymity. A separate sheet of paper should carry name, phone number and address of adult contestants.

Teens and juveniles may place name, address, telephone number and age above each poem, not on a separate sheet.

No entries will be returned, and decisions of judges are final.

Send submissions to "Poetry Shell," 325 Palo Verde Ave., Monterey, CA 93940.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF TRUSTEE'S SALE

No. 45889

YOU ARE IN DEFAULT UNDER A DEED OF TRUST DATED FEBRUARY 16, 1988. UNLESS YOU TAKE ACTION TO PROTECT YOUR PROPERTY, IT MAY BE SOLD AT A PUBLIC SALE. IF YOU NEED AN EXPLANATION OF THE NATURE OF THE PROCEEDINGS AGAINST YOU, YOU SHOULD CONTACT A LAWYER.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on September 15, 1989, at 1:00 p.m., at the front entrance to the Monterey County Courthouse, 240 Church Street, in the City of Salinas, County of Monterey, State of California, 93901, Henry Rendler, whose street address is 555 N. First St., No. 200, San Jose, CA 95112, and whose telephone number is (408) 293-5112, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, in lawful money of the United States, all payable at the time of sale, all that certain real property situated in the City of Carmel, County of Monterey, State of California, described as follows:

LOT 12, of tract no. 388, according to the Map filed in the Office of the Recorder of the County of Monterey, State of California, in Book 7 of Maps, Cities and Towns, Page 39.

The street address and other common designation, if any, of the real property described above is purported to be:

24806 Handley Drive
Carmel, California 93923

The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and other common designation, if any, shown herein.

The sale will be made without covenant or warranty regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to satisfy the obligations secured by and pursuant to the power of sale conferred in that certain deed of trust dated February 16, 1988, executed by Charles F. Swanson and Susan A. Swanson, His Wife, to Walter G. Fitzsimons, as trustee for Helen L. Stacy, an unmarried woman, as to a 65/90% interest and Raymond Davidson and Mary E. Davidson, His Wife, as Joint Tenants as to a 25/90% interest, as beneficiaries, recorded on February 19, 1988, in Reel 2198, Page 1216, as document number 08418, of Official Records of Monterey County, California.

Notice of Default and Election to Sell the above-described real property under this deed of trust was recorded on February 15, 1989, in Reel 2331, Page 683, instrument number 08531, Official Records of the County of Monterey, State of California.

The sale will be made to pay the remaining principal sum of the note secured by the deed of trust, with interest thereon as provided in said notice, advances, under the terms of the Deed of Trust, fees, charges, and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust, with the total unpaid balance of the obligation now amounting to: $100,978.25

The undersigned was appointed and substituted as trustee under the Deed of Trust by a substitution dated May 10, 1989, recorded on May 12, 1989, in Reel 2364, Page 0177, document number 26282, in the Official Records of Monterey County, State of California.

Dated August 21, 1989

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING LOCAL AGENCY FORMATION COMMISSION OF THE COUNTY OF MONTEREY

Pursuant to Government Code
Section 56834, notice is hereby given that the Local Agency Formation Commission of Monterey County will consider the following:

1. A proposal to amend the sphere of influence for the Carmel Sanitary District. The proposal includes the addition of 3 plus or minus acres to the District's sphere and the exclusion of 44
plus or minus acres from the sphere. The proposal area is located north of Carmel Valley
Road and west of Del Mesa Drive.
A sphere of influence is a plan for the probable ultimate service area and physical boundaries of a local governmental agency.

Notice is hereby further given that the Commission will consider adopting a Negative Declaration for the proposed sphere amendment in compliance with the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA). The Negative Declaration indicates that the change will not have the potential to impact the environment.

2. A proposal submitted by the Carmel Sanitary District for the proposed "Carmel Valley Overview Annexation" (105 plus or minus acres). The proposal area is located north of Carmel Valley
Road and west of Del Mesa Drive.

Pursuant to Section 15300 of the California Environment Quality Act (CEQA) Guidelines, the annexation has been determined to have a significant effect. An Environmental Impact Report was certified by the County of Monterey on April 4, 1989, for the Carmel Valley Overview development. The Commission will certify that it has reviewed and considered this EIR in accordance with
CEQA.

3. A proposal submitted by the County of Monterey for the proposed "Carmel Valley Overview
Annexation (340 acres) to County Service Area No. 43" (Carmel Unincorporated). The proposal area is located north of Carmel
Valley Road and west of Del Mesa Drive.

Pursuant to Section 15300 of
the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) Guidelines, the annexation has been determined to have a significant effect.
An Environmental Impact Report was certified by the County of Monterey on April 4, 1989, for the Carmel Valley Overview development. The Commission will certify
that it has reviewed and considered this EIR in accordance with
CEQA.

4. A proposal submitted by the Carmel Sanitary District for the proposed "McEwen Annexation" (133 acres). The proposal area is located north of Rio Road, east of Carmel Rancho Boulevard, south of Carmel Valley Road, and west of Val Verde Drive.

Pursuant to Section 15303 of
the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) Guidelines, it has been determined that the annexation is exempt from CEQA
under the Class 19b exemption.
Class 19b consists of annexations of individual small parcels of the minimum size for facilities
exempted by Section 15303.

The public hearing will be held on September 26, 1989, at 7:00 p.m. in the Board of Supervisors'
Chambers, Monterey County
Courthouse, 240 Church Street,
Salinas, California. All persons wishing to make presentation for or against the proposals will be heard. Information on the proposals is on file at the LAFCO Office and may be examined by any interested persons.

Spirit of Japanese landscaping

The Oriental Art Society of the Monterey Peninsula presents Peter Lockhart, who will lecture on "The Spirit of Japanese Landscaping." The free program begins at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 12 in the community room of the Crossroads, Rio Road off Highway 1, Carmel.

After graduating from the University of California at Berkeley College of Environmental Design in 1970 with a degree in landscape architecture, Lockhart toured Japan for five months. He studied Japanese landscaping and other arts such as ceramics and woodworking. His stops included Honshu, Shikoku and Hokkaido.

Lockhart is currently licensed as a landscape architect and a landscape contractor, and is a member of the American Society of Landscape Architects (ASLA), California Landscape Contractors Association, Peninsula Executive Association and California Council of Landscape Architects.

Camp hosts sought for Big Sur coast

State parks along the scenic Big Sur coast have several openings for volunteer camp hosts — either couples or individuals.

Camp host duties range from greeting visitors and working in a visitor center to collecting fees, maintenance and other duties involved in operating a campground. Camp hosts must supply their own camping vehicles. Campsites are provided, with hookups for water and electricity. Each camp host must agree to work 20 hours a week and stay at least two months.

Persons interested in becoming camping hosts in the state parks of the Big Sur coast may contact Chief Ranger Hayden Sohm, 667-2316, or write to Big Sur District, Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park No. 1, Big Sur, CA 93920.

Free guide to off-highway areas

A new guide to Off-Highway Vehicle Areas in California is available at State Vehicular Recreation Areas.

The guide includes a map and listing of off-highway areas managed by the California Department of Parks and Recreation, the U.S. Forest Service, the Bureau of Land Management, as well as areas managed by counties, cities or other jurisdictions.

The guide also has a section with safety and preparedness tips and legal requirements for the use of off-highway vehicles in California.

Individual copies are also available free of charge by contacting Publications Section, Department of Parks and Recreation, Box 942896, Sacramento, CA 94296-0838, call (916) 322-7000.

CARMEL VIEWS CAPTIVATING

Nestled amidst lofty pines on a sunny, level half acre, this newer family home features a redwood deck/entry which leads to a tiled foyer and a beautiful living room with grasscloth, a corner fireplace and sliding doors to expansive deck. The extra large dining room also opens to a deck. A huge country kitchen features breakfast/family room, beautiful cabinetry and built-in microwave. The oversized master suite offers a dressing area, triple closets, a huge tiled shower, and wooded view. There's a double garage, easy-care landscaping, cul-de-sac privacy and a decided sparkle about this special home. Offered at $425,000.

LAND HERE!

PRIME BUILDING SITES

We currently feature an excellent selection of building lots — Carmel Highlands oceanside sensation, offered at $425,000 — Palo Colorado 1 acre with year-round stream $48,000 — Carmel Valley commercially zoned, $114,000 — Palo Colorado, 2-five acre parcels with magnificent ridgetop ocean views, $170,000 for both.

CLOSE-IN HOME + ACREAGE A CARMEL VALLEY CLASSIC

Two vintage homes of redwood, with beamed ceilings, and 2 smashing Carmel stone fireplaces. The main home is one great room with bath and kitchen. The semi-attached artists' studio becomes the ideal retreat, while the upstairs "crow's nest" master suite boasts views aplenty. The value of this prime property lies primarily in the level land — there's approximately 6.5 acres with mountain views and country serenity. The ideal close-in location is just 10 minutes from the mouth of Carmel Valley, with possibilities for a minor subdivision. $640,000.

PACIFIC HEIGHTS PERFECTION

You'll love this ideal 3 bedroom, 2 bath, bay view townhome that's just 1 year old, in Pacific Heights, a planned-unit-development of detached, single-family residences. There's a huge, bay view master suite, while additional bedrooms are well-separated on the ground level for privacy. In addition to lofty cathedral ceilings you'll find neutral wall-to-wall carpeting, fireplace, an oversized, double garage, and delightful garden patio off the kitchen which includes breakfast area, tile and built-ins. Maintenance-free grounds, with lots of privacy. Offered at $224,500.

HIDDEN HILLS HAVEN

An elegant 3 bedroom, 2 bath country home, with walled, Spanish-style courtyard, living/dining space with cathedral ceiling and fireplace. Unique kitchen/family room includes a complete center-island preparation and breakfast bar, floor-to-ceiling, concealed storage space, wet bar and huge decks. The master suite includes sitting room and garden bath. Offered at $419,000.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES AND COMMERCIAL INCOME

BECOME AN ENTREPRENEUR!

Retail carpet business with mobile showroom—lots of potential for easy expansion. Current owner devotes limited time to business—build it up and reap the rewards. Offered at $90,000. OR Consider a hobby shop—the only store in the area which specializes in radio-controlled cars, boats and airplanes, offered at $200,000. OR Consider a small commercial income building in Carmel Valley Village, with excellent tenants, much renovation and extra parking. Land, building and existing rental agreements, offered at $259,000.

FAMILY COMPOUND

HEART OF BIG SUR

Above Big Sur River Valley, looking westwards over coastal hills to the Pacific Ocean, this two-family main residence and complete guest/caretaker A-frame, stand amid stately redwoods. The upper portion of this 16 acres, with its homes and pleasant, sunny orchard, is reached by a country road extending 1/2 mile from the locked gate at the Scenic Highway, to the property's surfaced driveway.

Spacious decks on the west side of the 2400 square foot main residence afford views down Sycamore Canyon over Pfeiffer Beach rocks to the vast Pacific Ocean beyond. The guest house location fully separates it from the main house, providing pleasing seclusion for both.

Inside, on the upper level, is the original house consisting of main living/dining area with fireplace, kitchen/pantry, bath and bedroom/den. The "new" section includes 2 bedrooms with baths and laundry room on upper level, with huge 2-story living room (pictured), plus second kitchen and adjoining darkroom, on lower level.

The completely separate A-frame guest/caretaker house is also surrounded by decks enjoying the same lovely views. Both homes are served by PG&E and Pacific Telephone, with water from the private well located on the property. This unusual property, among the wealth of unique and outstanding properties for which Big Sur is well known, lends itself to a variety of uses; it is priced at $595,000.

MOVE IN TOMORROW

A HOME with great street appeal having all the charm you'd expect in a Carmel property, yet updated to today's scale of living. This two-story home has been tastefully remodeled to make a comfortable, attractive retreat for you and your family. There's a nice living room with open beam ceiling and raised-hearth fireplace, dining area, and two bedrooms. Upstairs is a master suite with peek of ocean. All the furnishings are included in the price of $510,000...so just bring your toothbrush!

LOCATION...

LOCATION...and location...commonly said to be the three most important things to look for in real estate...and here's a home in Carmel that fills the bill. It's a three-bedroom home in a prime area of Hatton Fields, and it's on a three-quarter acre level lot. Let's be candid — the house needs work, but it has tons of potential. The master bedroom faces a rose garden, and the living room and den open to a lawn and brick patio. Take a look and use your imagination! $650,000.

PEBBLE BEACH

IN A VERY GOOD area of upper Pebble Beach...a comfortable ranch-style home with three bedrooms and two and one-half baths. The living room has a raised-hearth fireplace and three big plate glass windows that offer pleasant wooded outlooks. The dining room has a wet bar for convenience, and there's a big family room with a circular brick fireplace in one corner. Just right for family living! $475,000.
